PREFACE.

It is now more than thirty-two years since the compiler of this Genealogy was first led into an investigation of the Records by a natural curiosity to learn something about his ancestry. Having traced his own line back to the first of his ancestors who settled in this country, he felt a desire to continue these inquiries and gather from every source all that might be learned about the descendants of that original progenitor. The result of this investigation, which represents the labor, in all that time, of more than four years, will be found in this volume, which has been printed not only with the hope that it will prove interesting to those of the compiler's kindred now living, but also with the expectation that some copies, at any rate, will be preserved on the family tables, or on the shelves of the more public town and district libraries, to meet the eyes of future generations of this name, and excite in them a desire to know something about the history of their family.

The origin of this surname is clearly enough shown in its form, which has existed now for more than thirty generations, or ever since surnames began to be established, and is well rendered in the old English Records by the Latin form Pauper, as, for instance, Roger le Pauper or Roger le Poer, the famous Bishop of Salisbury, whose monument may still be seen in the beautiful cathedral which he founded but did not live to see finished, the exquisite spire of which, rising to a height of over four hundred feet, overlooks old Sarum, once a crowded city under the Saxon rule, now an uninhabited hill, and the great Salisbury Plain with its mysterious ruins of Stonehenge and its mounds and rings, memorials of a still older period, when the druids offered up their sacrifices and the native Britons sought vainly to withstand the steady march of the disciplined Roman legions; while close at hand, within a short walk from the cathedral city, on the banks of a quiet stream, lies Ambrosebury, Ambresbury or Amesbury, whence our New England town took its name, and where once lived a Philip le Poer the ancestor of the present well-known English family of Poore, whose seat is now at Rushall in the same county of Wilts. Both in England and in this country the name has been variously spelled, as Poor, Poore, Poer and even Power. The more common form, however, seems to have been Poore.

Without being able to state definitely from what place in old England our first New England ancestor came, there are some circumstances, at least, which lead to the supposition that we may look to Wiltshire, or its neighboring county Hampshire, for the immigrant's birth-place. Chief Justice Samuel Sewall, in a letter written in 1684–5, to his uncle Stephen Dummer, then living in Bishopstoke, a parish of Hampshire, close to the southeastern borders of Wiltshire, wrote, "we are in good health here in Boston; so our friends at Newbury are as far as I know. John Poor of the Neck died the beginning of this winter." [N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., Vol. IX, p. 287.] And we find that Alice Poore, aged 20, Samuel Poore, aged 18, and Daniel Poore, aged 14 years, all came together with the family of Stephen Dummer in the Bevis, from the port of Southampton, England, in 1638, while tradition says that our ancestor, John Poore, and the above mentioned Samuel, who settled in Newbury, Daniel, who took up his abode in Andover, and a Thomas, whom we find to have been certainly a brother of Daniel, and who died in Andover without issue, were all brothers.

As the name of Stephen Dummer's wife, at the time of the immigration, was Alice, we may conjecture that these children were akin to her and perhaps orphans under the guardianship of her and her husband. Be this as it may, there seems enough to warrant the hope that a careful search among the records of the parish of Bishopstoke, or of some of the parishes in its neighborhood, both in Hampshire and Wiltshire, may throw light upon the parentage of John Poore, and perhaps connect him with the Ambresbury family. And in this connection it should be remembered that the parish of Andover lies in Hampshire, not very far from Bishopstoke, and connected by an easy road with Salisbury, so that the New England pilgrim to the "old home" beyond the sea, while riding out to Stonehenge, may almost fancy himself in our own Essex county as he passes by a familiar looking guide-post standing at the cross road which informs him that Andover lies to the northeast, while the little town of Amesbury, already mentioned, lies but a short distance to the westward.

The endeavor has been made to render this work authentic and complete, and, to that end, the proofs as they have come from the printer's hands have been transmitted to the various families for inspection and revision, and it is hoped that it will prove as nearly correct as a work of this nature can be.

The arrangement of families is in a natural order, and the various sizes and positions of the type indicate the different generations, rendering it easily understood, a system which, although unique, will be found not without utility.

The table of the first six generations on page 134, and the compound triune index to the work will be found, it is to be hoped, of great value.

In conclusion, the compiler is desirous of expressing his sincere gratitude towards those who have assisted in the collecting of these records, and his earnest hope that all his kindred and patrons will take as much pleasure in the perusal of this work as he has taken in its preparation.

ALFRED POORE.

JOHN POORE AND HIS FAMILY.

JOHN POORE, the patriarch of one stock of his name, came, according to Mr. Coffin in his history of Newbury, from Wiltshire, England, in 1635, which was the next year after several families—who that year also settled in Newbury—came to Ipswich.

According to depositions on file in the office of the Essex County Court, he was born about 1615, consequently he was about twenty years old when he came to this country.

After a careful examination of the records of the State, Counties, Towns and Churches in Massachusetts, we conclude that he was the earliest of his family name who came to America.

He settled upon the southerly side of Parker River in Newbury, Massachusetts, that part of the town being called the "Neck." The street leading over Parker River to Rowley was laid out as far as his house through the north part of his land, then it turned westward.

The lot east of John Poore's was, from generation to generation, occupied by the Thurston family. Next east of Thurston's lot, and on the end of the Neck, was the homestead of the Plummer family. Through these estates is a street extending by the south side of Mr. Poore's house and the Thurston and Plummer houses, to the end of the Neck. The lot west of Poore's was owned by the Hale family; all of these lots extend across the Neck from Parker River to the Marshes, which lie between this upland and Plumb Island River. He had laid out to him by Rowley, in 1661, about thirty acres of upland, at a place in that town called "The Island beyond the Cow Bridge Meadow."

The house which he built, together with additions, is still standing, and has been owned by the family, from father to son, until this time (1878), eight generations having been born in it, the eighth and ninth generations now residing there.

At times the old mansion has been used as an Inn. It is on the ancient highway leading to Rowley, and about four miles southward from Market Square, and Stations on the Boston & Maine and Eastern Railroads in Newburyport.

By the records of the county we find that he was on the jury in the years 1654, 1658, 1661, 1664, 1665, 1670, 1674, 1678. He was attorney for Daniel Poore, of Andover, who, it is supposed, was his brother when said Daniel had a cause against Jo. Godfrey, March 26, 1667, and Walter Wright, March, 1681.

In the Registry of Deeds, at Salem, may be found sundry lists of those who took the oath of fidelity. The age of each Newbury man was given in a list for 1678. On this latter, appears the name of John Poore, aged 63.

He was chosen by the town to occupy various places of trust; for instance, in 1666 and 1669, he was on the board "to act the prudentialls of the Town." When the seats in the meeting-house were assigned in 1668, it is recorded that "John Poor, sen^r to sit in the fore seat."

He had land given by the town from time to time, and bought other land; so, he owned in Newbury and Rowley probably over a hundred acres; but, the supposition is that it was conveyed to his sons before his decease, as we find the deeds of some of it on record, viz.: to his sons John and Henry, dated not long before his decease.

By an inventory of his personal estate we find the date of his decease to be "about" November 21, 1684. Tradition says that he was out hunting, and losing his way, perished by cold and hunger in the woods near Andover. On file in the office of Clerk of the Courts in Essex County, Volume XLIII, page 73, in the report of the jury of inquest, summoned to inquire into the cause of his death, dated Nov. 24th, in the year of our Lord

1684, we find the following verdict: — "We judge that being in the woods and following his game, he was bewildered, and lost himself, and in his pursuit plucked off his clothes, and scattered them some good distance, one part from another till he had left nothing on save his wastcoat and drawers, and breeches and hose and shooes."

We find no will on record; but, it seems he had made a verbal disposition of some of his estate. Among the papers on file in the Probate Office it is stated that before the balance of his estate was divided among the heirs, £30 was "to be abated for debts & legaceyes."

We discover on the back of an account of the Administrators, rendered November 26, 1697, that his heirs among whom his estate was divided were the widow and seven children, viz.: John Poor, the eldest son Henry, Joseph, Hannah Isly, Sarah, Mary Clark, Lydia Titenm and Abigail Isly.

The name of his wife, by whom he had his children, was Sarah; and that appears as the name of his widow, after his decease; and widow Sarah Poore died Dec. 3, 1702. But we are unable to give the maternal ancestry of his children.

1. John, b. June 21, 1642; m. Mary Titcomb. See his family on p. 9.
2. Hannah, b. Oct. 14, 1645; died young.

JOHN, THE FIRST SON OF THE PATRIARCH.

JOHN², born June 21, 1642; died February 15, 1700–1. Settled in Newbury, on the homestead of his father; took the oath of allegiance in 1678, when he was 36 years of age. He was on the jury; was frequently called to offices of trust in his native place, as overseer of wills, and appraiser of estates; was tything-man many years and constable to collect taxes, etc.

He probably bought or sold but little real estate during his life; but his heirs sold the out-lands, most of which were in Rowley, to Joseph Plummer, jr., in 1706.

In his will made July 12, 1700, proved March 3 following his decease, he mentions his wife Mary, and all his children excepting his first born, who died in infancy. He gave his homestead to his son Jonathan, with a provision that he pay the debts and legacies thereof.

John Moore

He married February 27, 1665, Mary, daughter of William and Joanna (Bartlett) Titcomb, born February 27, 1644, and she was alive in 1709, when she sold to her son-in-law, Joseph Morse, her interest in the estates of her uncle, John Bartlett, and cousin, John Bartlett. Her mother was daughter of Richard Bartlett, Sr., of Newbury, and the Titcomb and Bartlett kin, of whom she was a descendant, have resided in Newbury and vicinity from its first settlement. They had the following children, viz.:

1. John, b. May 27, 1668; died Oct. 4, 1668.
2. Mary, b. Aug. 9, 1669; m. Jan. 29, 1690, Samuel West, of Salem, Mass., where she had the following children born, viz.:
    I. Samuel, b. Nov. 21, 1691. II. Elizabeth, b. Sept. 11, 1693; d. 1703. III. Jonathan, b. 1697. IV. Daniel, b. Apr. 22, 1699. V. Nathaniel, b. Sept., 1702.
3. Sarah, b. Oct. 27, 1671; m. Nov. 10, 1696, John Bachelour, of Reading, Mass., where we find their children recorded, viz.:
    I. Sarah, b. Dec. 21, 1697. II. Rebeckah, b. Mar. 5, 1700. III. Hannah, b. Oct. 12, 1701. IV. Mary, b. May 15, 1703. V. Samuel, b. May 11, 1707. VI. Elizabeth, b. May 25, 1710.
4. Elizabeth, b. July 26, 1674; m. Jan. 30, 1692–3, Joseph Morse, weaver, of Newbury, where we find they had recorded the following children:

I. Joseph, b. Oct. 28, 1693. II. Daniel, b. Mar. 8, 1695. III. John, b. Oct. 22, 1697. IV. Mary, b. Jan. 10, 1699. V. Elizabeth, b. Aug. 11, 1702. VI. Judith, b. Apr. 9, 1705; d. 1716. VII. Edmund, b. Nov. 2, 1707. VIII. Jonathan, b. Mar. 14, 1710. IX. Enoch, b. Sept. 17, 1712. X. Sarah, b. Jan. 24, 1715.

5. Hannah, b. Aug. 16, 1677; m. 1703, Peter Godfrey, of Newbury, where they had recorded the following children:

I. Mary, b. Sept. 27, 1704. II. Joseph, b. Sept. 22, 1705; d. Nov. 7, 1705. III. Daniel, b. June 11, 1708. IV. Joseph, b. Feb. 12, 1709. V. Hannah, b. Apr. 26, 1713. VI. Sarah, b. Dec. 26, 1715. VII. Benjamin, b. Mar. 4, 1719.

6. Jonathan, b. Feb. 25, 1678; m. Rebecca Hale. See his family on this page.

7. Judith, b. May 22, 1681; m. Feb. 2, 1704–5, Henry West, of Salem, where she died four days after her last child was born. The following children are recorded in Salem, viz.:

I. John, b. Jan. 6, 1705–6. II. Henry, b. Aug. 13, 1708. III. Elizabeth, b. Nov. 10, 1710. IV. Mary, b. Oct. 17, 1712. V. Judith, b. Jan. 23, 1714–15; d. Aug. 22, 1715.

8. John, b. June 26, 1683, who died unm. Aug. 17, 1705, and his estate was settled in Probate Court, the agreement between his only brother and five sisters being on record.

JONATHAN^3, THE SIXTH CHILD OF JOHN^2 (page 9), OF JOHN^1.

JONATHAN^3, born Feb. 25, 1678, settled on the old homestead at Newbury Neck, where his children were born, and where he died, June 30, 1742. He was a juryman most of the time for many years, until just previous to his decease. On important committees, tything-man and one of the selectmen of the town.

About the time of his father's decease, he became of age. At this time he engaged in the real estate business, which he followed during the remainder of his life. In this respect he was more like his uncle Joseph, than his father and grandfather. He sold to his uncle Joseph Morse, a right in a "Rate Lott," that had belonged to his grandfather, in 1701. He bought of J. Wainright, on the Neck by Rowley, that had been owned by his grandfather and uncles Henry and Joseph Poore, in 1702, and sold it to his brother John Poore, in 1705. He exchanged land with Ezekiel Northend, in 1706. He bought of Joseph Ilsley, in 1711. He with Hale, Thurston and Plumers of the Neck, sold their right in common lands on the Neck to the Plumers, in 1715. He bought of Thomas Palmer and Jonathan Hopkinson, two parcels of land in Rowley, 1716. He sold to John Stewart, land in Rowley, 1721. He bought of Edward and Josiah Bishop, woodland near Thirla's farm, 1728, and sold it to Jonathan Plummer, the next year. He sold to Richard Adams, land in Newbury, 1731. He bought of Thomas Lambert, of Rowley, some of great swamp in Rowley, on Newbury line, in 1736.

In his will, made Sept. 15, 1737, and proved July 5, 1742, he mentioned all his children, excepting the three that died in infancy.

Jonathan Poore

Rebecca, his wife, b. Feb. 18, 1683, who deceased Mar. 16, 1760, in her 77th year, after she had married Mr. Jonathan Jewett, of Rowley, was the eldest child of John and Sarah (Jaques) Hale, of Newbury; granddaughter of John, Sr. and Rebecca (Lowle) Hale, and great granddaughter of Thos. Hale, Sr., the earliest of the name in this country.

Her mother was daughter of Henry and Anna (Knight) Jaques, of Newbury; and Anna's father was Dea. Richard Knight. Her grandmother Rebecca, was daughter of Richard Lowell, and probably granddaughter of Percival Lowle.

Their intention of marriage was recorded Aug. 18, 1703. They had the following children:

1. Rebecca, b. May 10, 1705, who m. Oct. 26, 1727, Thomas Moody, of Newbury, b. Jan. 11, 1703, a son of Thomas and Judith (Hale) Moody, and had six children:
   I. Mark, b. Aug. 5, 1729; d. Aug. 19, 1729. II. Rebecca, b. Sept. 28, 1730; d. Dec. 12, 1730. III. Sarah, d. May 11, 1733. IV. Judith, d. June 1, 1733. V. David, b. Feb., 1735. VI. Abner, b. Mar. 15, 1744.

2. Mary, b. Nov. 7, 1706; m. Dec. 2, 1725, Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Lydia Pierce, who was b. June 13, 1700, and had the following named children recorded in Newbury:
   I. Jonathan, d. young. II. Rebecca, b. Jan. 14, 1727. III. John, b. Apr. 13, 1730. IV. Anna, died young.

3. Ann, b. Oct. 25, 1708; m. Dea. William, son of Rev. Richard Brown, of Reading, Mass. Their intention of marriage, Dec. 27, 1729; removed to Newbury, the native place of his father; was a cabinet maker; deceased about May, 1778; she then alive. Her children found on the records of Newbury, were:
   I. Richard, b. Dec. 21, 1731. II. Mary, b. Nov. 27, 1733. III. Martha, b. Jan. 1, 1735. IV, Susanna, b. Dec. 6, 1737. V. Rebecca, b. Feb. 16, 1740. VI. Nane, b. Mar. 30, 1746. VII. Mary? b. Sept. 7, 1748. VIII. Samuel, b. Dec. 23, 1752, who was administrator of his father's estate.

4. John, b. June 20, 1711; m. Ann Longfellow. See page 12.

5. Jonathan, b. July 8, 1714; d. July 23, 1714.

JONATHAN^5, SON OF JOHN^4 (page 12), JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

JONATHAN^5, born on the old homestead of his ancestors, January 20, 1737; he there passed his life until its close, March 19, 1807. For a number of years he kept a public house. He was always greatly interested in military affairs, collecting a company of volunteers, and marching to the front in 1775. He afterwards commanded the company stationed in that part of Newbury. He took an active part in the French and Indian war and in the Revolution. He was appointed one of the committee for supplying the continental soldiers in 1778.

Capt. Poore served the town from the time he was about thirty till near his decease, by filling various offices, and was several times on the jury when the county courts were in session.

About two years before his decease he made a will, in which he mentioned all his children with the exception of two, who died in infancy. A facsimile of his signature to this will is here given.

Jonathan Poor

Sarah, his wife, b. in Newbury May 25, 1739, and who died Aug. 17, 1819, whom he married Nov. 8, 1759, was daughter of Henry and Mary (Hale) Dole, and half sister to his sister Anna's husband. Mrs. Poore's father was son of Abner and Mary (Jewett) Dole, grandson of Richard and Hannah (Rolfe) Dole, of Newbury, from whom descended all the Dole's who have resided in Newbury. Richard is said to have been son of William Dole, a tanner of Thornbury, County of Gloucester, England; and this son Richard came over to America with John Lowell. Children:

Of these children who have posterity: —

SARAH^6, DAUGHTER OF JONATHAN^5 (page 13), JOHN^4, JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

SARAH^6, born April 12, 1761; married John Butler, 4th, son of John and Mary Butler, who was born in Newbury October 23, 1758. They resided in Newburyport, until after the birth of her fifth child, when they removed to Campton, N. H., where her father had one hundred acres of land, the use of which he gave to his daughter during her life; and after her decease, to her children. Here, their other children were born. During the first of their residence in Campton, they occupied a place in the southernmost part of the town; and previously to the marriage of their daughter Lydia H., they had removed about four miles to the northward, and were occupying land that belonged to the husband of their daughter Mary, south and near to the residence of Mrs. Willey. Here, on the morning of March 9, 1836, Mr. Butler, while at the breakfast table, was taken with an apoplectic fit, and immediately expired.

After the decease of her husband, Mrs. Butler went to live with the family of her daughter Mary. A few months after this, she was stricken with paralysis, from the effects of which she never recovered. Not long afterwards she was removed to the home of her daughter, Lydia, where she lived over a year, being then removed into the family of her daughter Betsey, in which she ended her long and useful life on March 22, 1843. We are informed by her grandchildren, that up to the age of the common lot of man, she was possessed of uncommon abilities, and was truly a helpmeet to her husband.

Before his marriage to the subject of our sketch, Mr. Butler had a daughter Fanny, who was born on the 23d of October, 1783. We have been unable to learn the mother's maiden name, but have understood that she had previously been married to a seaman by the name of Newman. This daughter married Jonathan, son of Thomas and Dorothy (Blaisdell) Bartlett, born at Campton, about 1782; his ancestors, however, had lived on the Merrimack, near its mouth, from the early settlement of the country. He was a kin to Josiah Bartlett, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Fanny's posterity consists of fourteen children, about three dozen grandchildren, and at this time her great-grand-children number about the same as her children. They are the fruit of the following eight children, viz.: Clarissa, b. Oct. 22, 1803, whose husband was Henry, son of Ebenezer and Jane (Burbeck) Little, of Campton, b. Jan. 20, 1805; she had Amanda, Jane Bartlett, Gardiner, George Henry and Jason Cook, the latter b. Jan. 23, 1846, and has married his second cousin, Harriet A. Hodgdon. Nancy, whose husband was Joseph Chandler. Mary, who had her only child, a son, by her husband Barstow; the son died unmarried. Blaisdell, whose only son, same name as himself, is in Arizona Territory. Jane, whose husband was a Fill. Sarah, whose husband is Edward M. Caldwell. Thomas, who had two sons. Martha, who married Jacob O'Bryan, who was born in Dublin, Ireland, and has had eleven children, being more than twice the number of any other one of her mother's children.

Sarah had the following children: —

THE JOHN POORE MANSION.

Occupied by him and eight consecutive generations, in one line of his descendants about 240 years; in which have been born about three score of the ancient patriarch's progeny. The junior Samuel's son Alfred with his two sons John Lawrence and Alfred Wesley, of the last two generations, reside there in 1881.

In the beginning it consisted of one square room on the ground and chamber over it, with chimney on the eastern end, without at first any finish inside. Jonathan, son of John and grandson of the progenitor, built the eastern end of the main part and finished the inside of the whole house. Subsequently the lean-to was added to the back side. Lastly the singular projection at the south western corner was annexed by John of the fourth generation, who kept the ferry over the river Parker, which flows by the north end of the farm, and about sixty or eighty rods from this house, and perhaps this room was where he took toll, and it may be this John's son Jonathan used it for his office etc., when he was an inn-keeper, (after his neighbor Hale gave up the business,) this being the half-way house between Newburyport and Rowley—handy for freight teamsters and others on the highway between the East and Boston, to drop in and "wet their whistle" in dusty summer or "warm up" in cold winter. So when Reed of Newburyport photographed it, the old tavern sign was erected for the occasion, but the last four generations have not used it, as about the time of the decease of Jonathan the Newburyport and Boston turnpike was built, and drew travel from this way.

HANNAH^6, born in Newbury, September 17, 1772; married October 10, 1794, John, son of Rev. Joseph and Sarah (Carpenter) Prince, born February 14, 1763. His father, who died in the pulpit just after pronouncing the divine blessing at the service when he preached his last sermon, was buried in the first Presbyterian church, on Federal street, in Newburyport, with George Whitfield. He was blind about 51 years, the seeming misfortune caused by a snowball thrown at him when at school, while playing with the boys when he was about 14 years of age. We are informed by his great-grandchildren that he chose his wife when at a social gathering of the religious society, the pastor jocosely asking him whom he would choose in the company, for a wife; the pleasant voice of Sally Carpenter led him to select her. She consented, and was truly a helpmeet; not only eyes to the blind, but had uncommon natural abilities, as well as acquired accomplishments to assist a minister of the gospel. He died in January, 1791, aged 68 years; an extended notice of him may be found in the newspaper printed in Newburyport Feb. 2, 1791.

PRINCE.

DANIEL^4, born in Newbury, Mass., March 13, 1716. Settled in Haverhill, Mass., on land given by his father—where his great-grandson, Jeremiah T. Poor, in 1878, owns and occupies. It is in that part of old Haverhill which fell into the State of New Hampshire, when the present line of the state, which was located three miles from the Merrimack river in 1741, was established. That territory being called Haverhill District for a while, then incorporated by the name of Plaistow, and in 1765, that part of the town was incorporated by the name of Atkinson, and this farm is very near the south line; next to said Haverhill, which in 1869 was incorporated a city.

He built his house about a dozen rods north of the street which runs from the church in the old north parish of Haverhill, by the south side of his farm, over Providence Hill to old Londonderry; and near the east side of the street which extends from said Londonderry street, to the church in Atkinson.

His brother John commenced clearing off the old forest in order to settle here, but it was concluded that he should remain with his father; so Daniel ventured to settle upon this wild land, was an enterprising man; an officer in the militia, etc. He settled most of his sons on farms, but let his youngest son have the advantage of being graduated at College.

Besides the homestead given him by his father, he owned land adjoining, and in other localities. The first found on record is the Half-moon meadow, bought of James White; next, he purchased of Thomas Pope, jr., in 1750, forty-four acres; of Joseph Page, in 1752, ten acres; and about the same time, some more joining the above of John Currier and Col. Atkinson; of Joseph Merrill, in 1755, forty acres, situated in Bedford, N. H.; of Nathaniel Merrill in same year, fifty acres in Plaistow; of John Watts in 1758, about four and one-half acres; of Joshua Webster in 1759, his right in nine and one-half acres; of Jonathan Clements in 1764, fifty-two acres on Chester road; of Stephen Knight same year, twenty-six acres adjoining his land; of Jonathan Sawyer in 1771, about six and five-eighths acres, situated on the town line partly in Atkinson and partly in Haverhill; of Charles Johnson in the spring of 1769, over sixty-seven acres in Hampstead, which bordered upon Island Pond; and of Thomas Woodbury in 1763, his right to some land which had been laid out in Perrytown, to one Stephen Poor. He also took a deed from Moses Belknap in 1759, of forty acres on Hog Hill road, and deeded it back in 1763; and of Stephen Whitticker for forty-two acres with mills on Providence Brook in 1765, and deeded it back in 1767. And, he conveyed away to Eben Johnson in 1757, fifty-five acres; to his son Daniel Poore in 1771, fourteen acres of the Jonathan Clement land on Chester road, and in 1781, forty acres more; to son Jonathan Poore in 1781, forty acres more of the Clement land, and parcels of twenty-three acres, seven and three-quarters acres, and twenty-nine acres; to son David Poore in 1781, his land in Hampstead by Island Pond; and to son Jeremiah Poore in 1781 and 1791, several parcels, to the amount of over 100 acres, and the buildings—including the homestead.

He married Nov. 23, 1739, Anna Merrill, born in Haverhill, West parish, Mar. 18, 1718-9, who died July 6, 1781. She was daughter of Nathaniel and Ruth (Wallingford) Merrill. Her father born in Newbury, 1687, was son of John and Lucy (Webster) Merrill. Her grandfather, b. 1663, son of Nathaniel and Joan (Kinney) Merrill. Her great-grandfather, b. about 1638, was son of Nathaniel who came to this country, and the common ancestor as we suppose, of most, if not all in the United States who bear the name of Merrill. Mrs. Poore's brother, James Merrill, settled near them. By his first wife he had his children. On the 24th of Feb., 1782, he married Miss Lydia Bradley of Haverhill, who survived him but nine days, aged 73 years. He died Jan. 9, 1792, after making his will the 8th of July, 1791, which was proved Feb. 14, 1792. In his will he names all his children excepting one who died in infancy; and grandchildren Merrill and Jesse, sons of Daniel; Daniel, son of David, and Charles, son of John. And to his negro girl named Phillis was given her time with her clothes at his decease. He gave his surveying instruments to his son Jonathan, who also used them. We give his signature made about ten years previous to his decease. Children:

ANNA[6], born Nov. 21, 1780; married Apr. 4, 1804, Lt. James, son of Capt. James and Mehitable (Rollins) Webster, akin to the husbands of her sisters and niece above, b. in Salem, N. H., on the north side of Captain's Pond, near the corners of Atkinson, N. H., and Haverhill, Mass., Dec. 14, 1782. The farm where he was born was originally cleared up by his grandfather Benj. Rollins, who came up from Newbury, Mass., and bought the land, which consisted of fifty-five acres, in 1736, and when he died his daughter Mehitable had it. They settled a few rods west of where he was born, where most of their children were born, and Apr. 6, 1824, removed on to the farm, southwest side of said pond, which he purchased of David son of Stephen Wheeler. It is the most westerly of the three farms made of the tract which had been owned by the Wheelers from the time the first came up from Rowley and bought, next to Dea. Smith's farm, where Mrs. Webster's brother Jesse settled; and their home lot is bounded, westerly by the street leading from Lawrence over Providence Brook to Hampstead, which street separates the lands anciently owned by the Wheelers from the Johnson land; and this farm extends north beyond the street where they first resided; and the farm east of it, of late was WEBSTER. owned by Daniel Emerson. He died Jan. 30, 1857. She survived him until Jan. 21, 1862; he was a carpenter and farmer. Children:

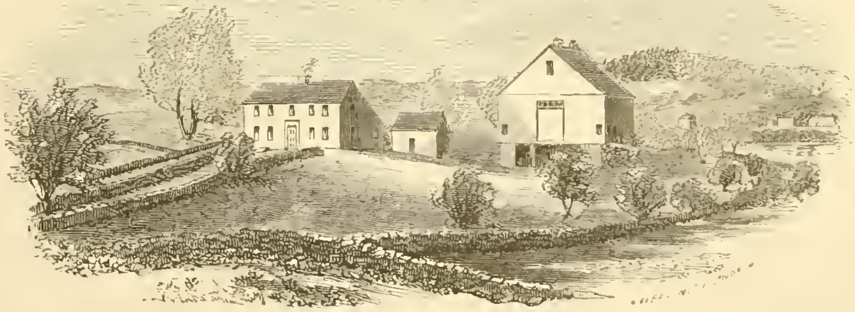
JESSE^6, SON OF DANIEL^5 (p. 83), DANIEL^4, JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

JESSE^6, born Nov. 25, 1782, who some years previous to his marriage bought a farm on the southeast side of Captain's Pond, in the West Parish of Haverhill, about five and a half miles from the City Hall, and near to Methuen on the southwest; it being partly in Salem, N. H., and running back very near to Atkinson, the house being about a dozen rods north of the street, on an elevation about ninety rods from the pond. It is southwest from, and in view of the old homestead of his grandfather, where his father was born; and in sight of where his mother last resided and died; also nearly opposite where his sister Anna first resided after marriage. The house is the oldest on the street; the west end of it was built first; the east end added some years after, and lastly a leanto was built upon the north side. There was a school kept in the westerly part of this house, about the year 1800.



RESIDENCE of the late JESSE POORE, sketched in 1856; the artist standing in the street, and southeast of it. Since that time the large apple-tree on the west side of the lane, and the big black oak north-west of it on the line of Emerson's farm, have been removed; but an oak, which grew from an acorn of the old tree, stands near where its parent stood. The present barn was built in 1850, the south end of which is about one rod south of the front side of the old one, and the west side of it about one rod from the east end of the old one.

The highway on which this place is situated, has been named by the city, Liberty Street, but anciently the lower end of it (which at first had many short curves) was sometimes called by the name of "Pig-tail lane," and that part which extends by this place over to and beyond the Spicket, has been called Wheeler Street. It was laid out by the town as a public way from Old Spicket Path (now called Broadway) up to N. H. line, near the dwelling house of Benjamin Wheeler (place now owned by Leverett B. Emerson, whose father Leonard had it after Abner Wheeler), Nov. 13, 1740, and about 1830 it was widened and somewhat straightened. This street was, however, settled upon up as far as this place, about ten years before. The Greenleafs of Newburyport owned much of the land both sides of it, had a house built near the lower end, where the late Samuel E. Greenleaf resided; next above, Ebenezer Bailey from Bradford (now Groveland) built where his grandson John (in 1878) resides. The next early settlements above Mr. Bailey's were upon Sweet Hill, viz.: on the south side of the street, by Humphrey Bailey from Bradford, who in a few years after removed to Hopkinton, N. H., and some years after it was bought by Jedediah Pettengill; on the north side by John Stewart (as mentioned on a page above), which Dea. Joseph Webster bought a few years after the Stewarts had left it, and there raised his large family.

This farm where Mr. Poore resided as long as he lived, is the westerly part of what said Stewart owned, and the homestead of Dea. John Smith, which he purchased May 22, 1738—same day said Benj. Wheeler bought on the west side of it. Said Stewart, Smith and Wheeler came up from the upper part of Rowley, which is now Georgetown. The other residences on the street are more modern, viz.: one owned by Gilman Stickney was brought on to that place about 1840, and afterward owned some years by Jesse Atwood. The place at the entrance of the old Rose Meadow Way was owned by above said Dea. Smith, and given to his son John, who left it to his nephew, Capt. Jesse, son of Thomas Smith, who has of late sold out, and built near the church. The cottage in the valley between his house and the Pettengill places, was built about 1860, by Capt. Smith, to accommodate his hired servants. Only the Ebenezer Bailey place remains in the family of the original settlers on this street, from Atwood's corner on Broadway, to the corner west of the Spicket River, a distance of about three miles. His signature.

Jesse. Poor

Besides being a farmer, he was a cordwainer, and taught all his sons the same trade. He was very quiet in all his actions during life. His complexion light, with blue eyes, rather below medium in stature, but passed a satisfactory examination when he was called to go into the army, in the war of 1812-5, and went to Portsmouth, N. H., and stayed awhile to guard that port.

He married Apr. 16, 1817, a cousin to John Pettengill, husband of his eldest sister's daughter, Sally, daughter of Woodbridge and Nabby (Lowell) Bailey, b. on Broadway, in the easterly part of Ayers Village, in Haverhill, about three-quarters of a mile south of their residence — see her pedigree, page 115 of our Historic-Genealogical Researches. He deceased July 19, 1847, and she remains (Jan. 27, 1879) on this place. Children:

ALFRED^7, born Feb. 27, 1818; having never married, he now calls his birthplace home — which is near Ayers Village, a branch post-office in Haverhill; but, as his opportunity of obtaining an education was limited while in his teens to about ten weeks in the yearly winter seasons, at No. 9 District School in that town, he was permitted to attend Atkinson Academy awhile (during the last term John Kelly, Esq. was its Preceptor), and thereby having obtained a larger desire for a more liberal education; he has since been a wayfarer much of the time. He left home for the first time to be gone over the Sabbath, in the early part of 1840, and attended the "Bradford Teachers' Seminary," which was opened the 4th of Dec., the previous year, by Benj. Greenleaf, Esq. (a native of said School District No. 9), the author of a series of mathematics, and former Principal of Bradford Academy; while in that school he went over various branches of education, becoming much interested in the natural sciences, and, in order to inform himself more fully in Anatomy and Physiology, obtained access to the library of George Cogswell, M.D. (a native of the town where said Alfred's father was born), who then had several students under instruction in his profession, and became so interested that he attended the course of lectures in the medical department of Dartmouth College, in 1845, and while there was favored with the extra attention given to botany (one of his favorite studies) by Prof. Phelps, who took the class into the fields, where the plants grew — the same method of gaining knowledge in different departments of Natural History adopted by the Essex Institute, of Salem, Mass. The Institute visit about half a dozen places during the warm season each year, and print their proceedings on those excursions in their monthly Bulletin.

In 1846 he commenced an inquiry respecting his ancestry, and step by step obtained the direct line on his paternal and maternal side back to the first settler in America. Next came a desire to obtain all the descendants of each of those two ancestors, and afterward to trace back to the first settlement in this country the lines of his two grandmothers, and all his great-grandmothers, and by so doing he has found, now, that he is akin to a vast number of the families bearing the names of the early settlers of Newbury and Rowley, and their descendants in other towns in Merrimack Valley.

About the middle of Jan., 1847, when in the East Parish of Bradford (incorporated in 1850 by the name of Groveland), he met Peter Parker (a brother of Dr. Cogswell's first wife) at his variety goods store on the corner by the church in that parish, who informed him that his (Peter's) employee Eben Jaques had suddenly deceased a few days previous, and asked said Alfred if he would come down and assist him in his business for awhile. He complied, and although at the time he did not expect to continue with him, remained there about ten years, and during the time boarded in the family of Dea. Ira and Julia (Poore) Hopkinson — Mrs. Hopkinson, as he afterward learned, being akin to him.

While in Groveland, he collected materials for a minute history of the place, including a genealogy of the families who have resided there since the town of Bradford was settled.

After leaving Groveland he continued his researches in regard to the history and genealogy of families in Bradford, Boxford, and other towns adjoining, and resided in the west part of Andover some months in 1864.

The last day of Jan., 1865, he left home to spend a few weeks in Salem, Mass , in order to examine the Essex County records found in offices in the stone building built in 1841, on the corner of Federal and Washington Streets, at the northern end of the tunnel of the Eastern Railroad, under the last-mentioned street; but finding such an extensive opportunity to acquire information from these records, and the library of the Essex Institute — of which institution he has made himself a life-member, and by associating with so many there found, who are interested in historical and genealogical researches and in scientific investigations, he has remained in the quiet old city until Feb. 19, 1879, and has, for most of the time, since returning from his mother's, Thanksgiving time in 1865, lodged on the premises of Matthew Adams Stickney, on the southwesterly side of Boston Street, not far from the big Elm tree standing in the street about midway between "the Square" in Peabody, and the above said record building; and spent his days in studying the records in the Court House. But to complete his genealogies he has had occasion to visit all the towns in Essex County, and in the southern part of Rockingham County, and to make tours in other parts of Mass., New Hampshire, and other states, to examine records of counties, towns, churches, and families; also during this time he has visited Boston on several three months' Eastern Railroad tickets, to search the State Archives and other places in and about the city, doing his best that this genealogy might be as nearly perfect as possible.

HARRIET ^{7}, born November 8, 1819; died September 2, 1824.

EMERY.

ELIZABETH HUSE^7, born Oct. 6, 1821; married June 21, 1841, Benjamin Emerson, son of Jesse and Sally (Welch) Emery, b. in the northwest part of Atkinson, N. H., Apr. 16, 1818; remained awhile on the farm with his parents, removed to the market-place in Haverhill, Mass., in 1842; was a butcher and dealer in cattle, also a farmer, until Jan., 1871. After that time he was Street Commissioner of the city of Haverhill. For most of the time they have resided on Pond Street or vicinity, eastward of the Soldiers' Monument. Children:

GLINES.

HARRIET FRANCES, born Sept. 20, 1843; m. May 17, 1868, a brother to the husband of Olive, the dau. of her 2d cousin, Tristram Goodwin, son of Abi Albon and Sarah P. (Goodwin) Glines, b. in Great Falls, N. H., Jan. 1, 1846; residence (1876) No. 25 Pond Street, and (1879) No. 10 Warren St., Haverhill, Mass. He was formerly in a shoe-manufactory, but, since 1871, has been employed by George G. Davis, to sell meat and provisions, most of the time driving around in the suburbs of the city. Children all born in this city, viz.:

POORE.

AMOS BAILEY^7, born Sept. 25, 1824, who resides on the homestead of his father; married May 18, 1854, Lydia Jane, dau. of Isaiah and Esther (Merrill), Howe, from the north part of Methuen; a distant kin by way of the Merrill family, b. on Howe Street, Sept. 26, 1833. He was brought up to the same occupation as his father, but for about fifteen years was extensively engaged in butchering and supplying Ayers Village and the vicinity of West Parish, in Haverhill, North Methuen, Mass., and South Salem, N. H., with meat and vegetables; since 1869, he has paid his attention to farming. Children:

FRANK WILLARD, b. Mar. 14, 1855; at home with his father; bee-culture being his present specialty.

CHARLES BENSON, born Apr. 14, 1859, who died July 1, 1860.

EMMA ISABELLA, born Aug. 29, 1861.

ABBIE FRANCES, born Jan. 31, 1864, who died Dec. 14, 1864.

IRA NOYES^7, born Aug. 25, 1827; married Jan. 1, 1852, Louisa Eaton, dau. of Warren and Eunice (Eaton) Webster, b. in Haverhill, on North Broadway, southwest of Long Hill (where the Marbles anciently resided), Sept. 27, 1829; and when two years old removed with her parents to reside in Salem, N. H., where her uncle James first settled. They are remotely akin by way of the Webster family. Her father was brother to his aunt

Ann's husband, and she is of the same family of Eatons, into which his aunts Elizabeth, Sally and Lydia married. He occupied a part of the homestead of his father, until May 10, 1864; sold out to his brother Amos B., and, occupied during about one year each, the places where Samuel E. Greenleaf and Dea. Moses Webster formerly resided; bought the place on Lake Street, for many years occupied by the Stephen Webster family — on the southeast side of West Meadow, between the meadow and West Meadow Hill, and about equidistant from Broadway and Lowell Avenue; and removed on to said place, May, 10, 1866. He formerly followed the trade of his father, but of late has given his attention to farming and horticulture — raising all kinds of vegetables and fruit for the market of Haverhill. Children:

HARLAN BRONSON, b. Oct. 26, 1852; was for awhile salesman for a trader, and for some years has been employed in Gale Brothers' Shoe-Manufactory; is (in 1878) unmarried.

WALTER FORREST, b. May 29, 1854; is engaged with his father in raising vegetables, etc.; unmarried in 1878.

OLIVE ROSELLA, born Aug. 19, 1868.

LYDIA^6, DAUGHTER OF DANIEL^5 (p. 83), DANIEL^4, JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

LYDIA^6, born Jan. 30, 1788, who deceased June 2, 1819; married Dec. 29, 1812, Moses, son of Moses Webster, a brother to her sister Sally's husband, b. Jan. 29, 1792, who after her decease m. Elizabeth Currier, by whom he had a daughter Sarah. He settled on the homestead of his father on Broadway, which place is about three miles west from the City Hall; built a new house in 1840, a few feet in rear of where the old one stood. The brick church which was built in 1828–9, stands about a dozen rods east of it. Most of the lot where the church stands was taken from his homestead, and the remainder from the homestead of Joshua Webster.

He was a pillar in the church, and chosen together with the Capt. Joseph Webster on Sweet Hill, deacons of it in Feb., 1827, and they held that office until their decease. His occupation was farming, and occasionally making ox-yokes. He departed this life, Sept. 20, 1858. Lydia's children were:

JOSEPH EUGENE, born May 19, 1858; a farmer on the Dea. Ingalls' farm.

DAVID^5, SON OF DANIEL^4 (P. 67), JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

DAVID^5, born in Plaistow, July 24, 1745. Learned the trade of a cooper when young, and all his sons and some of his grandsons had the same trade. Settled on the Charles Johnson land his father owned in the northwestern part of Hampstead, about three-quarters of a mile from the line of Derry, and two and a half miles from the line of Chester; and added other lands to his estate. One of his farms (afterward owned by Hugh Mills) was in Derry. His homestead was on the main highway leading from Haverhill, Mass., by where his brothers Daniel and Jonathan settled in Atkinson, and through Chester, to Concord, N. H. The mansion is on the easterly side of the way, and not far from the railroad which was built from Rochester to Nashua, about 1870.

David Poor

He was a Lieutenant in the militia; was in the Revolutionary Army, and helped defeat Burgoyne. After the battle a British officer being without money to purchase food for his son, who was hungry, gave to Mr. Poore his watch for some bread, and that watch is now possessed by his great-grandson Wm. Wallace Poore.

He married June 8, 1769, Phebe, dau. of Capt. Jonathan and Susannah (Bartlett) Carleton, b. May 9, 1747, who died Aug. 1, 1816. Her father was born Nov. 21, 1709; died Jan. 8, 1794; and her mother was born Feb. 13, 1713, and died Nov. 4, 1803. Capt. Carleton had a brother David, but it seems he had no sons when he deceased. Among his daughters, besides Mrs. Poore, were the wives of Nathaniel Little, Amos Chase (who perhaps settled in Unity, N. H.), Isaac Noyes, and perhaps one married a Pettengill. Lieutenant Poore was of small stature, but very strong and athletic, and lived to a great age; died Mar. 20, 1834. Children:

1. John, born Mar. 1, 1770; married Polly Calef.
2. Sarah, born Mar. 9, 1772; married Moses Green.
3. David, born Sept. 5, 1773; married Betsey Sawyer.
4. Phebe, born June 4, 1775; married Jonathan C. Little.
5. Anna, born June 9, 1777; married Richard Sawyer.

6. Mary, born Sept. 9, 1779, who for many years was a school-teacher; d. unm., Jan. 9, 1858.
7. Hannah, born July 13, 1781; died Mar. 26, 1787.
8. Daniel, born Aug. 31, 1783; died unmarried, Mar. 14, 1824.
9. Susannah Bartlett, born Aug. 24, 1788; died unmarried, Oct. 15, 1862.

Those who had posterity were:

JOHN^6, SON OF DAVID^5 (page 104), DANIEL^4, JONATHAN^3, JOHN^2, JOHN^1.

JOHN^6, born Mar. 1, 1770, who removed to Corinth, Vt., when his son John C. was about six months old, and returned home about twelve years after, and resided in the vicinity of his birthplace, occupying some of his father's land in Derry awhile, but died in Hampstead, May 20, 1845. He married June 25, 1795, Polly, dau. of Justice John and Lois (Calef) Calef, b. in Hamptead, June 27, 1765, who died Oct. 8, 1844. We learn from a manuscript genealogy of her family by M. A. Stickney, the noted antiquarian and numismatologist, of Salem, Mass., that her parents were cousins, viz.: her father was a son of John and Naomi (Eliot) Calef, and her mother was dau. of Dea. Wm. and Lois (Sawyer) Calef. Mrs. Poore's father, Judge Calef, was great in intellect as well as in stature; was five feet, eight and one-half inches in height, and of over 300 pounds in weight. Children:

They settled near the centre of Hampstead, where she died Nov. 30, 1841; where he was a cooper by trade and farmer, and died Feb. 10, 1856. He was a captain of a military company many years and was one of the selectmen of the town. In a notice of him in a newspaper of the day, we learn that when he was about nine years of age, when his father was in the Revolutionary

Army, he, with his brother Nathaniel, about two years his junior, took the sole care of a large farm, and performed all the work on the same. Voted at all the presidential elections, from the time when Washington was first chosen, until his decease, and attended all the annual town meetings in the town for fifty-six years, excepting four when he was ill. Regular in habits —for more than forty years in succession he rose every morning before the sun, read the scriptures every day. The sanctuary was his unfailing resort on the Sabbath, until prevented by infirmities of age. Although for a long course of years shut out by extreme deafness from ordinary social intercourse with his fellowmen and towards the close of life afflicted with cancer upon his face, which occasioned his death; yet he maintained till the last

JEREMIAH^{5}, SON OF DANIEL^{4} (p. 67), JONATHAN^{3}, JOHN^{2}, JOHN^{1}.

JEREMIAH^{5}, born in Plaistow, Oct. 31, 1747. He settled on the homestead with his father where he continued until he died, Aug. 3, 1811. He occupied the house and land adjoining, while his brother Jonathan owned the land on the northeast part of the farm, and brother Daniel had a farm more to the eastward of the original settlement of his father. He bought more land in the neighborhood, so that the three brothers, during the last quarter of the Christian century in which they lived, could show quite a quantity of real estate and children, upon the high and salubrious lands of the southern part of Atkinson, where they could from their delightful situation, overlook the villages in the valley of the Merrimack, and the beautiful Crystal Lake at the southwest, and Captain's Pond more distant, where the boys could go a fishing on "'lection day," after they had planted their corn in the summer, and on days of leisure in the winter season. Among public offices held by him, was that of commanding the company of militia in Atkinson.

Capt. Poore was married Oct. 11, 1770, by Rev. Edward Barnard, to Miss Mary, dau. of Samuel, jr. and Lydia (Webster) Hasseltine, born in Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 25, 1750, and died Mar. 24, 1823. She was a descendant on her father's side, of John Hasseltine, who, with his brother Robert, were among the early settlers of Rowley, and before his decease came to Haverhill. His descendants have owned land, from generation to generation, on North Broadway, by Long Hill; and on her mother's side from Stephen, a son of John Webster, one of the early settlers of Ipswich, and this family of Websters have resided in all parts of the West Parish of Haverhill, some of whom have intermarried, as we have seen, with Capt. Poore's brother Daniel's daughters. Children:

Jeremiah Poore

1. Samuel, born June 18, 1771; married Betsey Kent.
2. Lucy, born January 16, 1774; married Moses Dole.

He has supported himself since the death of his father, when he was eleven years of age. Although an ardent republican, he has given little personal attention to politics, and has never been an aspirant for office, but was in 1872 elected Circuit Court Commissioner of his (Oakland) County, and has held the office of United States Commissioner for the Eastern District of Michigan, since 1875.

He is a prominent member of the fraternity of Freemasons, and has served with marked distinction, as Master of Pontiac Lodge, No. 21, and as Prelate of Pontiac Commandery, No. 2, K. T., which latter office he still holds. He is a communicant of the Church of England, member of the Vestry, and secretary of Zion Church, Pontiac, since 1872.

He married Oct. 17, 1877, Lizzie Victoria, dau. of George Henry and Jane (Flower) Satterlee, who was born in Bloomfield, Mich., July 31, 1856, but removed to Central Mine, Keweenaw County, on the northern peninsula of Michigan, when three years of age, and resided there until 1875, when her father died, and she, with her mother and sisters, removed to Pontiac. Residence in 1879 is at 53 Lawrence Street. Child:

JOHN^5, born in Plaistow, N. H., July 8, 1752. Graduated at Harvard College, in Mass., 1775; was a school teacher; married (1) Nov. 2, 1777, Sarah, dau. of John and Martha Folsom, b. in Stratham, N. H., Feb. 10, 1758, she being the first child of her father's second wife. He had by her, four children, and she died Aug. 3, 1784. He then, about that time, removed from his native state to Pennsylvania, and there followed his profession of teaching, where he m. (2) one of his pupils, viz.: Miss Jane, a daughter of William and Elizabeth (Thompson) Neely, b. Mar., 1767, who d. May 15, 1827, and was interred in the church-yard in Solebury, with her father, an elder in the church, who died July 10, 1818, aged 76, and her mother, who died Feb. 15, 1854, in the 86th year of her age.

Mr. Poore was the first principal of the young ladies' academy, established in Philadelphia in 1787, which was, as we are informed, the first institution of the sort for females, in the country, and perhaps the first in the world. His pupils were from all parts of the United States, from the West Indies, and from Nova Scotia and Canada. He retired from Philadelphia and settled in the vicinity of his wife's native place; and his sons, with a few neighbors, in 1815, built for him an academy building, at a place called New Hope, Bucks Co., Pa., on the Delaware River, about twelve miles above

Trenton, and where his family resided from about 1809, until the decease of his wife; then he removed to Yorkhaven, York Co., Pa., and resided with his son, Charles M. Poore, until he died, Dec. 5, 1829, and was interred in Liverpool, York Co., Pa.

In his earlier days he taught vocal music; and while he resided in Philadelphia there were three sabbath schools in that city which were established by a society in 1791, and he taught the one that was located on Cherry St. While he was in Solebury he was Ruling Elder of the Presbyterian Church. We give an engraving of his signature to a letter, to his brother David.

HENRY, THE SECOND SON OF THE PATRIARCH.

HENRY[2], born December 13, 1650; settled at first on the south border of Newbury, and we find on the records of that town the births of seven of his eleven children. The land which he occupied was partly in the adjoining town of Rowley, and was given to him by his father in 1678, and it was about one mile in a south-westerly direction from his birth place. He sold the place to his brother Joseph Poore in 1693, and in the same year bought of John Pearson another one in the west part of Rowley where his other children were born, and which some of his descendants in 1879 occupy. This land is not so productive as that on Newbury Neck, but clearer from boulders, and much easier to till, and it seems to have been a healthy place for him; for he lived to be over ninety years of age.

Among his transactions in real estate, and found on record, were, besides the sale of his first homestead and purchase of his last place, he sold a rate lot in Newbury to Jonathan and Nathan Wheeler in 1702; two acres in Rowley to Joseph Boynton, senior, in 1714; about five acres in Rowley to Acquilla Jewett in 1724; two lots in Rowley to Daniel Thurston of Newbury in 1726; a river lot in Newbury to Samuel and Eleazer Peirce of Newbury in 1737; and deeded to his son Samuel his real estate January 14, 1728–9, including rights that should come to him by virtue of his "going to ye Narraganset War;" and gave to his son Benjamin forty acres November 4, 1829—which he acknowledged March 27, 1740-1. And among family papers not in Registry of Deeds, we find he bought a one and one-quarter acre lot of Thomas Nelson in 1687; and nine and one-half acres of Benjamin Pearson, January 15, 1723–4.

Among his public acts we observe that in the time of King Phillip's war he was pressed into the Army December 6, 1675; and, it may be supposed by the reading of the deed to son Samuel, that he there did service for his country. He was made a Freeman March 7, 1680–1; was chosen at various times one of the Tything men in Rowley, and filled offices that were necessary for the locality where he resided; was overseer of the will of Daniel Thurston, and at other times assisted in settling estates of deceased persons.

Among the ancient papers which have been handed down in the family from generation to generation, we find a bond of his sons Benjamin and and Samuel, dated November 5, 1737, in which they agree that yearly, Benjamin will half the time, and that Samuel will the other half keep their father during the remainder of his natural life. And a will made by him April 2, 1741, in which he names his son Benjamin who was to have the easterly part of his living; son Samuel who was to have all the rest of his real estate and be executor of the will; daughters Abigail, Mary, Hannah, Sarah, Elizabeth and Lydia,—the latter we may suppose was the widow of his son Jeremiah who had deceased; and grandson David Poore, who, we suppose, was the son of Henry, who had deceased. But as there is no record of the settlement of his estate in the Registry of Probate, we suppose the family settled it privately. We here give a facsimile of his signature to a receipt which he and his wife gave to her brother Thomas Hale, for what they received of her father's estate dated July 21, 1698.

Henry poore

He married Sept. 12, 1679, Abigail, daughter of Thomas Hale, jr., born in Newbury, Apr. 8, 1662, who died it seems, some time previous to 1729, as there is no mention of her in the deed to son Samuel that year. Her father was son of Thomas and Thomasin Hale, and born in England about 1633, and her mother Mary, a daughter of Richard and Alice (Bosworth) Hutchinson, baptized in North Muskham, Co. Notts, England, Dec. 28, 1630. Mrs. Poore therefore was a cousin to the father of Rebecca, wife of his nephew Jonathan Poore. Children:

1. Abigail, b. Sept. 9, 1680, whose intention of marriage to John Fiske, was Dec. 22, 1710, and previous to Apr. 15, 1746, had married for her second husband Thomas Holt of Andover, but probably she left no posterity.
2. Henry, born January 31, 1681; married Mary Holmes. See page 138.
3. Jeremiah, b. Jan. 10, 1683; m. Apr. 27, 1709, Lydia, a daughter of Peter Cheney, and died a young man, as his widow had married previous to Dec. 5, 1738, Samuel Plummer, and perhaps out-lived him and died very aged, as we are led to suppose by what may be learned from papers in the family.
4. Mary, born April 10, 1686, who died in infancy.

5. Mary, b. Sept. 20, 1687; m. June 2, 1713, Abraham Thurley, and perhaps out-lived him, and before 1737 married a man by the name of Morrison. She perhaps had a daughter Mary who m. a Joseph Woodman before 1736; but we find no births of children on the records of either Rowley or Newbury, or settlement of Mr. Thurley's estate in Essex County, so we presume she had only one child.

6. Hannah, b. July 19, 1692; m. (1) Sept. 30, 1714, Samuel, the youngest son of John and Mary (Poore) Noyes, b. in Newbury, Essex Co., Mass., Feb. 5, 1692, and died in Abington, Plymouth Co., Mass. (where he and his elder brother Nicholas settled) Nov. 6, 1729, his father John was the eldest son of Dea. Nicholas and Sarah (Cutting) Noyes, of Newbury, from whom descended the other Noyeses, who have intermarried with other branches of the family mentioned on page eighty-three, etc. His mother Mary, no doubt, was of the stock of Daniel Poore, who settled in Andover. After Mr. Noyes deceased, and previous to Oct. 8, 1742, she m. (2) Jacob Reed, probably of Abington. Several of her posterity by the name of Noyes, still reside in Abington, and we learn from the records of that town that she had by Mr. Noyes:

    I. Samuel, b. Sept. 19, 1715, who m. March 3, 1736-7, Rebecca Harden, and had Nathaniel, b. 1738; died 1756. Samuel, b. 1739-40. Joseph, b. 1742. Nathan, b. 1747. II. Daniel, b. Oct. 7, 1716, who died Nov. 11, 1780; m. (1) Nov. 24, 1743, Hannah Thayer, who died Jan. 17, 1749, by whom he had Hannah and Elizabeth, who both died young. He m. (2) Mercy Burrill of Weymouth, Dec. 29, 1750, who d. Sept. 9, 1766, by whom she had Daniel, Mercy, Daniel and Sarah, who died unmarried. Epbraim, b. 1757, who m. Sarah Dike; and the sixth of his eight children was Dea. Daniel Noyes, who was of the firm of Maynard and Noyes, the ink manufacturers, and afterward treasurer of the Seminary in Andover, Mass., in which place he deceased in 1852. Asa, Benjamin and Hannah, who all died young. Deborah, b. 1762, and John died young. He m. (3) widow Mary Reed, by whom had Daniel, b. 1772, and Mercy, b. 1774. III. Mary, b. July 10, 1718; m. Peter Nash, and had nine children. IV. John, b. April 20, 1720. V. Benjamin, b. Dec. 20, 1721, who by his wife Mary had a son Jonathan, b. in Abington in 1746. VI. Abigail, b. Feb. 13, 1723-4. VII. Jacob, b. Sept. 3, 1726; m. Anne Whitmarsh, Jan. 24, 1754, and had Jacob, b. 1755, and Anne, b. 1769. VIII. Ebenezer, b. Nov. 24, 1729; m. about Dec., 1756, Sarah White, of Weymouth, and had Matthew, b. 1758; Benjamin, b. 1762; Sarah, b. 1761; David, b. 1765; Molly, b. 1766; Betty, b. 1768, and Hannah, b. 1778.

7. Sarah, b. Jan, 18, 1693; m. (1) John Spofford, of Rowley, for his second wife, by whom she had three sons; m. (2) in 1735, Ezekiel Hale of Newbury, and (3) in 1741, Jeremiah Perley of Boxford; her children by John Spofford; and were:

    I. Daniel, b. 1721; who m. Judith Follansbee in 1741, by whom she had ten children, and among their descendants is Hon. Dr. Jeremiah Spofford of Groveland, aged in 1879 over fourscore and ten years, the author of a genealogy of his family of Spoffords, etc. II. Eliphalet, b. in 1725, who m. Lucy Peabody, and had seven children. III. William, b. about 1729; m. Abigail Perley, by whom he had three daughters and one son, and died in the Army while in the French and Indian wars.

8. Benjamin, born March 23, 1795-6; m. Elizabeth Felt. See page 155.

9. Elizabeth, b. April 9, 1698; m. (1) Edmund Jackson, May 24, 1718; settled in Abington, and perhaps m. (2) a Noyes, and died previous to 1774. By the records of Abington, we learn that her children by Mr. Jackson were:

    I. Henry, b. Oct. 15, 1719; died July 29, 1740. II. Edmund, b. Feb. 20, 1721; m. Silence Allen, Feb. 24, 1741-2, and had Samuel, b. 1743; Elizabeth, b. 1744; Susanna and Mehitable, twins. b. 1748; Olive, b. 1750; Silence, b. 1752; Mary, b. 1754; Deborah, b. 1757; and Tamar, b. 1761, III. Samuel, b. Sept. 20, 1723; died 1725. IV. Mary, b. June 5, 1725; m. Lt. Ephraim Spooner, about Oct., 1752, and had Mary, who died young; Sarah, b. 1754; Mary, b. 1759; Ruth, b. 1762;

Ephraim, died young. V. Hannah, b. Aug. 7, 1727; m. Samuel Green, Apr. 25, 1745, had Samuel, who died young; Hannah, b. 1747; Samuel, b. 1750; Mary, b. 1752; Joseph, b. Oct. 28, 1754. VI. Susanna, b. Sept. 18, 1729; m. Jacob Turrell, Jan. 4, 1753, and had Jacob, who died young; Susannah, b. 1754; Elizabeth, b. 1756; Jacob, who died young; Jacob, b. 1759; Molly, b. 1762; Lemuel, b. 1764; Ruth, b. 1768, and Oliver, b. 1772. VII. Samuel, b. Aug. 13, 1731; died Sept. 6, 1731. VIII. Hepzebah, b. Jan. 19, 1733; m. Robert Townsend, jr., May 26, 1757, and had Jacob, b. Aug. 17, 1757, and Jeremiah, b. Dec. 28, 1758. IX. Jeremiah, b. Apr. 12, 1735; m. Eleanor Doty of Rochester, about Aug. 26, 1766, and had Cynthia, b. 1769; Clarissa, b. 1772; and Jeduthum, b. 1768. X. Michael, b. Apr. 29, 1738; m. Thankful Stanley, of Hanover, about Jan., 1759, and had Sarah, b. 1760, and Henry, b. May 1, 1762.

10. Daniel, b. Oct. 5, 1700; who probably died young or unmarried, as he is not mentioned in the settlement of his father's estate.
11. Samuel, born April 28, 1706; married Elizabeth Searl. See page 199.
12. Lydia, her birth not found on record; but Henry Poore, father to the above children, mentions last in his will daughter Lydia, but we are inclined to suppose he meant his son Jeremiah's widow.

HENRY^3, THE SECOND CHILD OF HENRY^2 (p. 135), JOHN^1.

HENRY^3, born in Newbury, January 31, 1681, being the second child of his parents; married probably in the spring of 1703, to a Mary Holmes, of Newbury, as we find a record of their intention of marriage in both Rowley and Newbury, dated April 6, 1703. Probably she was a widow, and a daughter of Peter Cheney, for we find among the family papers a receipt of said Cheney, dated August 11, 1710, in which he called Henry Poor his son; and the receipt was for keeping a child of his said son a considerable time. So, taking into consideration the above circumstance, we conclude that Henry died about the time his third child was born. His children were:

1. Joshua, b. in Rowley, Mar. 14, 1703-4; who no doubt died very young.
2. Daniel, b. in Rowley, Nov. 12, 1706; who, we suppose, also died young.
3. David, b. about 1708; whose wife was Tamzen in 1740.

DAVID^4, SON OF HENRY^3 (page 138) HENRY^2 JOHN^1.

DAVID^4, born in Rowley about 1708; whose parents were deceased Nov. 11, 1722, at which time his grandfather, Henry Poore, bound him to Gershom Tenney, of Boston, to learn the trade of tailor, and to serve his master five years; and Aug. 28, 1728, was in Rowley, when he dated a receipt he then gave his grandfather Poore, for personal property he received of his father's estate; and in 1744 gave receipt to his uncles, Benjamin and Samuel Poore, for all demands he had against them for his interest in the estates of his father Henry, and grandfather Henry Poore, at which time he was of Sudbury, Middlesex County, Mass., and called himself a tailor.

While in Middlesex County, and living in Sudbury, he bought of B. Parmenter, a house and forty acres of land, situated upon the west side of Sudbury River, in the town of Sudbury, Aug. 1, 1740. Sold meadow to the manufacturing company (one of the members of the company then being Robert Hale, of Beverly), in 1740 and 1742. Sold to P. Goodenow a house and land on the west side of the river in 1741; to M. Maynard, west meadow on the west side of the river in 1741; to J. Carter in 1741; to T. Bent in 1742 and 1743; to P. Goodenow and F. Parmenter in 1745; and to D. Goodenow in Dec. 1751. During this period from 1740 to 1751, his wife's name was Tamzen, or Tamasin. He moved to Winchendon, Mass., about 1754, when his son David was about 14 or 16 years of age; the place where he lived, we are informed, is in the north-western section of the town, where Albert Mann resides in 1878. The name and parentage of the mother of his children are as yet unknown; perhaps she was the Tamasin who was living with him in Sudbury from 1740 to 1751. We understand that he had two or more children. viz.:

David poore

1. David, who tradition says was born about 1740, and married Jane Martin.
2. Benjamin, who perhaps was the one who was residing in New Salem, in the western part of Massachusetts, about 1770; but upon applying to the clerk of that town was informed that the records of the place were burnt a few years since, so that we have not any records from that place. We hear from tradition that he settled somewhere in Vermont, perhaps he went thence from New Salem. Probably he had no sons, for we have not discovered any by the name who trace their line back to him.

DAVID^5, SON OF DAVID^4 (page 138), HENRY^3, HENRY^2, JOHN.^{1}

DAVID^5, born perhaps in Sudbury, Mass., about 1740; but we find no record of his birth anywhere, and when aged from fourteen to sixteen years, left with his parents to reside in Winchendon, Mass., where he settled, and his eight children were born there. In the time of the American Revolution he was a brave soldier; continuing in the Army most of the time during the war, and was an officer in a company; at one time was a prisoner on Long Island, where he was confined about three years; but lived to be over threescore and ten years of age, when he died about the latter part of 1816. He m. (1) Miss Jane Martin, by whom he had his children. She died of a cancer in Winchendon, July 27, 1803; m. (2) a widow, Ellen Mathews, Oct. 7, 1803. Children:

1. William, b. Feb. 27, 1763; m. Elizabeth Blanchard and a widow Nurse.
2. Daniel, whose intention of marriage to Polly Martin, of Westminster, was recorded Dec. 1, 1798; resided in Winchendon, Mass., where eight children were born; and about 1825, we understand he left that place, and some say that he resided awhile in Keene, N. H., or in that vicinity, and afterward removed over into Vermont, and lived somewhere on the east side of the Green mountains, but we have not been able to find his descendants. His children were:
    - I. Joseph, b. Dec. 15, 1799. II. Mary, b. Feb. 1, 1801. III. Daniel, b. Nov. 13, 1803. IV. Phebe, b. Jan. 16, 1806. V. Patience, b. Apr. 24, 1807. VI. Hosea, b. June 4, 1809. VII. Ira, b. Nov. 21, 1811. VIII. Sally, b. Sept. 4, 1815.
3. Luther, m. Lydia Smith.
4. David, who probably never married; but when considerably advanced in life joined a family of shakers in Ohio.
5. Hannah, m. John Hayward.
6. Lucy, m. an Ellis; and we are informed that they lived in Broom, N. Y., and perhaps removed afterward West, as far as Ohio; before they deceased, we hear that she had sons and daughters.
7. Jane, m. Benjamin Berry, and we hear settled in Roylston, Mass., and perhaps she had about one and a half dozen children.
8. Prudence, who was not capable of self care, died in Springfield, Vt., unm.

Of these children whose posterity we have a fuller knowledge:

WILLIAM^6, SON OF DAVID^5 (p. 139), DAVID^4, HENRY^3, HENRY^2, JOHN.^{1}

WILLIAM^6, born in Winchendon, Mass., February 27, 1763, was the first child of his parents; married (1) in 1792, Elizabeth, a daughter of Benjamin Blanchard, in Rutland, Vt. their first child was born in the west part of that town; removed to the western part of New York state, and resided in Avon, Livingstone County, until all but their last child was born, and returned to Rutland, where she died Feb. 3, 1813, which was a few days after their eldest daughter's decease of the prevailing epidemic. Consequently he broke up housekeeping, and his other children — says his son Joshua, were early thrown out of their nest, and began to scatter; two of the six sons in their youth became preachers of the gospel, and the other four went to reside in "Chatauqua" County, N. Y.; finding the climate too cold went to the town of Windham, Portage Co., Ohio, about forty miles south of Cleveland, and their posterity now reside there and in other places in the Western states.

Mr. Poore, after his wife died, went to visit his father in the place of his birth; became acquainted with his stepmother's widowed daughter, Mrs. Sally Nourse, had recorded on the town records his intention of marriage to her Oct. 22, 1813; in due time they were married and undertook to take care of their aged parents, which they did to mutual satisfaction of all, and he died in the town of his birth Sept. 5, 1830. His children were:

HANNAH^7, born January 1, 1793; died unmarried February 3, 1813.

ALANSON^7, born January 20, 1796; who died in Hastings, Dekota Co., Minnesota, about 1878; had children—one, as we understand, named Edwin, who, they say, resides in 1879 in said Hastings.

JOSHUA^7, born in Avon, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1797; married (1) October 11, 1824, Nancy, daughter and sixth child of Dea. George and Abigail (Raymond) Coffin, b. in Winchendon, Mass., May 12, 1802; by whom he had his children. She died at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., March, 1839; m. (2) June, 1840, Miss Hannah, dau. of Isaac Mark, who died Apr. 9, 1875. Mr. Poore has met with many afflictions; but, he informs us that he received the evidence of his acceptance with God when about twelve years of age, no doubt, through the instrumentality of his pious mother. Circumstances led him to join the Methodist Episcopal branch of the church June, 23, 1823; and he joined the New York conference May 9, 1825; that conference divided in 1832, and he fell into the Troy conference, and was in Feb., 1778, the oldest member but one of that body. He spent two years as agent of an Academy; four years Presiding Elder of Burlington district; ten years as President and in managing otherwise Troy Academy; and the rest of the time on circuits. His health has not permitted him to preach much of late, therefore, since Feb. 25, 1868, has been living at North Vineland, N. J., where it is an agreeable place for his health, enjoying a peaceful evening tide. Children:

WILLIAM GEORGE, b. in Bristol, Vt., Sept. 30, 1825; who spent several years in New York City with R. C. Root; died unmarried at Poultney, Vt., Aug. 1, 1856.

POORE. TRUMAN SEYMOUR, b. at Leicester, Vt., Jan. 30, 1829; who was a boy of unusual promise until twelve years of age, but when overtaxed with study became deranged and was in the Asylum at Brattleboro, Vt., two years, and is in 1878 with his relatives in Windham, Portage Co., Ohio; but his mind is not much improved since he was taken with the malady.

SILAS RENSON, b. in Wallingford, Vt., May 9, 1831; died Feb. 10, 1832.

SILAS[7], born July 16, 1799, who died at Union Village, Warren Co., Ohio, August 10, 1866; married April 16, 1827, in Charlotte, Vt., by his brother Joshua Poore, to Annis, dau. of Elam R. and Polly Hall. Her parents last resided in Stanstead, Ca., near Derby, Vt. She was born July 1, 1806, and died March 29, 1850; by her he had fourteen children. He was a tanner and a shoemaker. They resided when their first three children were born in Westfield, Chautauqua Co., N. Y. When their dau. Ellen Ann died they were at the place called the "Trumbull Phalanx," in Trumbull Co., O. When their sons Newton G. and Wm. H., and dau. Lucy E. were born, they resided in Columbus, Warren Co., Pa. Children:

FRANCES NANCY, born September 21, 1829; died of cholera July 5, 1849; unm.

SUSAN MARIA, born August 15, 1831; m. Geo. H. Vandivere, but died without issue 1853.

STEPHENS. HARRIET ELIZA, born December 2, 1832, who is in 1877 with her sister Murray, and then unmarried. She m. Oct. 17, 1878, in Newport, Ky., Dr. Joseph Lloyd, son of Aaron and Sarah (Hutchinson) Stephens, b. at South Lebanon, O., Aug. 20, 1838; graduated at the Medical college of Ohio at Cincinnati in 1859, and in particular, cures in a few days the Opium habit. His residence in 1879 is Lebanon, Warren Co., Ohio.

MURRAY. THURZA IANTHE, b. Nov. 27, 1834; m. Oct. 8, 1865, Orson Smith, son of Jonathan and Roselinda (Bascom) Murray, b. in Orwell, Vt., Sept. 23, 1806, whose parents came from Guilford, Conn., and Newport, N. H., and he by a former wife, Catherine M. Higgins, had nine children, b. in Vt., five of which have been married and have had children, viz.: Marsena, Charles, Rachel R., Roselinda and Ichabod H., two of which married into Mrs. Murray's family. Mr. Murray was brought up by Evangelical parents; joined a Baptist Church; edited and published the Vermont Telegraph, the Baptist paper of Vermont six years, commencing it in 1835; some influence caused him to depart from his religious education; and he started another periodical which he named the Regenerator, at No. 29 Ann street, New York, Jan. 1, 1844, and six months after removed to a log cabin on the farm in Warren Co., Ohio, where they now reside, and continued it until March 1, 1856. Their residence is called Fruit Hills Farm, one mile below Foster's Crossings and twenty-six miles northeast of Cincinnati, Ohio. We do not hear that Thurza Ianthe has had any children.

ELLEN ANN, born June 25, 1836; died August 1, 1847.

Poore. NEWTON GERARD, born May 29, 1838; who has been a farmer, shoemaker, and lately a carpenter, but since Dec., 1877, has been perfecting his invention, viz.: an "Automatic Fire Alarm"; residence in 1879 at Bird Island, Renville Co., Minn. He m. Nov. 24, 1861, Sarah Jane, dau. of Samuel E. and Mary (Clutch) Finney, b. in Franklin, Warren Co., O., Dec. 30, 1844. Children all born in Dakota Co., Minn., viz.:

Byron Ellsworth, born in Nininger, December 4, 1862.
Ida Loren, born in Nininger, August 6, 1864.
Mary Annis, born in Nininger, May 3, 1866.
Louis Grant, born in Hampton, January 9, 1871.

WILLIAM HENRY, b. Feb. 10, 1840; m. Apr. 26, 1863, Rachel R., dau. of Orson S. and Catherine M. (Higgins) Murray, b. in Brandon, Vt., May 3, 1839, she being a daughter of his sister's husband, as above, their first, third and fourth children b. at Foster's Crossings, while their second child was b. on an island in Miss. River, twenty-six miles below St. Louis. They reside in 1878 at Waverly, Ind. He is a dealer in dried sugar corn, in company with Peter Morningstar. He formerly had for his partner Henry B. Kelley. Children:

Roselinda Ianthe, born June 2, 1864.
Annis Maria, born May 8, 1869.
Olive Portia, born January 7, 1871.

Henry, born and died December 31, 1876.

LUCY ELIZABETH, b. June 28, 1843; m. May 9, 1867, in Lebanon, Warren Murray. Co., Ohio, Ichabod H., another child of Orson Smith Murray; they reside at Foster's Crossings, where all their children were born.

Ichabod, born December 9, 1870; died aged one week.
Lucretia B., born August 15, 1872.
Carl Schurz, born October 27, 1874.

HENRY HAMLIN VANAMRINGE, b. July 2, 1845; m. Feb. 20, 1871, at De Poore. Soto, Jefferson Co., Mo., Caroline Augusta, dau. of Charles Henry and Jane Maria (Osborn) Hubbard, b. in Marengo, McHenry Co., Ill., July 28, 1844. Her father born in Rochester, N. Y., and went West at an early day; was a trader and nursery-man; removed from Marengo to Lawson, Washington Co., Mo., in 1866, and died there with small-pox in Nov., 1872. Her mother was a native of Ohio, and in 1879 resides with her youngest daughter in St. Louis. Mr. Poore is a farmer; moved to Lawrence, Kansas, in the spring of 1872, but upon the death of her father returned to Lawson and took charge of their farm; removed thence to Warren Co., O., in Apr., 1876; remained there until Oct., 1877, and removed to Renville Co., Minn., and took up a homestead near Bird Island, where they in 1879 reside. Children:

Orson Birney, born in Lawson, February 28, 1872.
Irena Estella, born November 25, 1873; died January 17, 1876.
Charles Delos, born in Lawson, February 15, 1876.

WALLACE LUCIUS, born February 20, 1848; died July 27, 1849.

EBENEZER BLANCHARD^7, born in a locality called Big Tree, in, he says, Livingstone Co., N. Y., Nov. 4, 1802; brought up on a farm; taught school three years, when about 20 to 23 years of age; then learned the trade of a carpenter, and at the age of sixty, says he, "I donned the armor of a warrier to put down the Rebellion," and served in the 15th Independent Ohio Volunteer Battery, but stood it only about six months. After he recovered his health, he went into the wilds of Michigan, took up a homestead and lived upon it long enough to prove his claim, and on the same he had to pass the ordeal of that terrible fire we read of, which happened in Michigan in 1871, which accounts for the loss of his eye-sight.

He married July 26, 1827, at North East, Erie Co., Pa., Lucinda, dau. of Perrin and Hannah (Utley) Ross, b. Feb. 10, 1808, in Greenfield, Erie Co., Pa. Her grandfather Ross was a victim of the Wyoming massacre, which occurred about three months previous to the birth of her father. Her mother was a native of Hebron, Conn. They resided when their first child was born, in Jamestown, Chautauqua Co., N. Y.; third child in North East; fourth, and sixth in Westfield, N. Y.; the ninth in Braceville, Trumbull Co., Ohio, and their tenth one was born in Windham, Portage Co., Ohio, and they reside in that county at Garrettsville in 1879. We learn since the above was put in type that Mr. Poore died Jan. 3, 1879, and his son-in-law Pike has furnished in the Vineland Independent of Feb. 13th, an extensive obituary notice of him. Children:

FRANCIS XAVIER, b. July 6, 1828; was one of the Hundred Day's men who served on Johnson's Island guarding prisoners; but when John Morgan made his second raid they were sent to Kentucky to head him off, and were taken prisoners at Keller's Bridge, when they had that bloody massacre. He m. June 26, 1850, Tirzah Loveland. He is a farmer and runs a steam threshing machine in the north part of Windham, Ohio. Children:

BENJAMIN^3, SON OF HENRY^2 (p. 135), JOHN^1.

BENJAMIN^3, born in Rowley, March 23, 1695–6; settled in the town of his birth on the easterly part of the homestead of his father, which, as we have mentioned, was given him by said parent just before his decease, consisting of about forty acres besides some salt marsh situated in Newbury. When the parish of Byfield was incorporated, about 1702, consisting of a part of each, Newbury and Rowley, his place fell into said parish. His transactions in real estate afterwards was the sale of said marsh to Timothy Jackman in 1745, the buying of Daniel and John Morrison about six acres in Rowley, which he sold said Jackman in 1745, and sold to Nehemiah Noyes thirteen acres in Rowley and two acres in Bradford in 1752, and as one of a committee leased some land for Byfield Parish, in 1741. He was one of the leading men of his neighborhood and held the important title of captain, as we find by the county records.

He married for his wife Elizabeth Felt, who, we suppose, out-lived him, but we have not learned the exact time of the decease of either of them. He made his will June 19, 1758, which was proved Apr. 2, 1759; an engraving of the signature we here give. At the time this will was presented to the court his widow Elizabeth sent to the Judge of Probate saying: "this may signefie y^t I the subscriber take up with the will of my husband late of Rowley, deseased." He mentioned in this will as then living, son Jeremiah, who was named executor and to have the easterly part of the homestead; son Benjamin; son Henry, who was to have the westerly part of the homestead; dau. Abigail who had married, and dau. Elizabeth then unmarried. Grandchildren, Anna and David Poor, the children of his son Daniel Poor, late of Rowley, deceased. Children:

Benjamin Poor

1. Jeremiah, b. June 6, 1719; m. Joanna Carr.
2. Abigail, b. June 6, 1721; m. Joseph Noyes of Newbury; settled in Pembroke, N. H., on "Pembroke street," and his farm was just about five miles from Concord. She lived to be ninety-five years old, having had then seventy-five grandchildren, and she has a grandchild who is in 1878 over ninety years of age, and from her and some of her uncle David's descendants we are informed that Abigail had the following children besides one son who died young, viz.:

   I. Benjamin, who, it is supposed, was the first child; m. a Thompson, who settled in Bow, N. H., and had eleven children. II. John, who settled in Bow, and by wife Mollie had ten children who grew to manhood. III. Samuel, m. a Bradley from Haverhill, had nine children. IV. Aaron, who settled in Tunbridge, Vt., and had by wife Bettie nine children. V. Enoch, born in April, 1751, and was the middle child in the order of birth who died in Lowell, Mass., in 1842; m. May 24, 1857, Hattie Jane, dau. of Samuel and Lorine (Rogers) Larken, b. in the Newbury part of Byfield parish, Sept. 4, 1834; reside on the homestead of his father; is an extensive farmer, occupying also the farm of her mother and grandfather Lull, which are upon the southern side of the street; the houses on both these places having been built about a dozen rods from the street. The house on her mother's farm was taken down in Sept., 1875. They have two children, viz.: Ann Clemens, b. March 6, 1859, and Hattie Florence, b. Feb. 2, 1864. VI. Sarah, b. Aug. 10, 1770; who died unm. aged about 19 years.

6. Elizabeth, whose birth is not on the town record, but she was mentioned by her father in his will and we presume she was the person who married May 23, 1758, Peter Osgood.

7. Mary, whose birth is not on record, and she was not mentioned in her father's will, but as she is spoken of by more than one branch of her father's descendants and they not acquainted with each other we suppose she must be one of his children and that she must have received her portion of his estate when she was married as they say to a Swett, and settled in Pembroke, N. H., and agreed not to ask for it again.

JEREMIAH^4, SON OF BENJAMIN^3 (p. 155), HENRY^2, JOHN^1.

JEREMIAH^4, born June 6, 1719; settled in Rowley on the easterly part of his father's homestead given him by his father as we have learned from the will of his parent, and we do not find on record that he added to it; all we find of his trading in real estate was that of buying of his uncle Samuel Poore, some marsh in Newbury, and with Benjamin Poore (probably his brother), selling seven and a half acres of marsh situated in Newbury, to Dr. Matthew Adams in 1754. His real estate when he died was forty-five acres, with buildings and half a pew in the Byfield church. In his will made Jan. 6, 1774, and proved the 30th of the following August, he mentioned wife Joanna, daughters, Mary, wife of Jonathan Wheeler, and Mehitable, unm., and his last four sons all under age, to whom he gave his real estate. His widow made her will Dec. 22, 1781, which was proved Feb. 4, 1782; in which she mentioned the above said sons and her grandchildren Molly and Jonathan, children of Jonathan Wheeler. The real estate was divided among the four sons Apr. 3, 1783; it was on both sides of the old road leading to Newburyport, and about two miles northeasterly from the "corner" and the railroad junction and about a mile from the Newburyport branch of said railroad, bounded by lands of Thomas Lull, Henry Poore, Wm. Longfellow and John Searl. The building for dwelling consisted of two parts called the eastern house and the western house, and connected together by a porch; son Jeremiah had the eastern and Benj. the western house. He married Nov. 3, 1742, Joanna Carr from Salisbury. Children:

Jeremiah Poor

1. Mary, b. Dec. 11, 1742; m. previous to 1774 Jonathan Wheeler; settled in Byfield, near her father, the place called Wheeler's corner, and had probably only two children.

I. Molly, under 18; in 1781 died unmarried. II. Jonathan, under 21; Dec., 1781, who it is said m. his cousin Betsey, dau. of Rufus Wheeler, and had some children.

2. Abigail, b. Jan. 18, 1745-6; died young.
3. Moses, b. June 6, 1747, and as he is not mentioned in the wills of either of his parents we presume he died unmarried.
4. Abigail, b. June, 1749; probably died unmarried.
5. Mehitable, b. May 18, 1762; who we hear was an eccentric maid and gave all her estate to her mother and brother Jerry in a will made Jan. 4, 1777, which was proved the third of the next month.
6. Jeremiah, b. DANIEL[4], SON OF BENJAMIN[3] (page 155), HENRY[2], JOHN.[1]

DANIEL[4], born in Rowley, June 29, 1723; settled in the place of his birth, and probably not far from the homestead, as he and his wife owned the covenant of the church in Byfield Parish, December 19, 1745, but he died about six years after his marriage and we do not learn much of him either from records or tradition. His wife was Edna Plummer, and the date of their intention of marriage is Feb. 28, 1744. She was appointed administratrix of his estate Oct. 28, 1751, and Feb. 28, 1754, she married Samuel Plummer, and it is said she had some children by her second husband. We have not discovered the date of the decease of Mr. Poore or his wife; his children were only two, viz:

1. Anna, b. Feb. 7, 1746-7; married Aug. 1, 1769, Jeremiah Harriman, and had recorded on the Rowley records the following children:

I. Lucy, b. May 25, 1770. II. Polly, b. Jan. 8, 1773. III. Jeremiah, b. Mar. 31, 1780. IV. Daniel, b. Jan. 29, 1783. V. Anne Poor, b. Feb. 9, 1787.

2. David, b. Mar. 18, 1748–9; married Abigail Carleton.

DAVID^5, SON OF DANIEL^4 (page 174), BENJAMIN^3, HENRY^2, JOHN.^{1}

DAVID^5, born in Rowley, March 18, 1748–9; was by trade a housewright, and in his later years was a farmer; always lived in the westerly part of Rowley; at first near the east side of Pentucket Pond and about a half mile northeasterly of the "corner," and the railroad junction and on the southeast side of the Newburyport branch of the railroad. This farm he bought of Abner Burbank the latter part of January, 1773, for one hundred and forty-six pounds, thirteen shillings, and four pence lawful money; containing about twenty-nine acres, separated into two parts by the street, the northerly part was bounded as follows, viz.: "beginning at a stake and stones on the northerly side of Andover road to ye eastward of the dwelling house on said premises, which is a bound between this land and land belonging to the widow Abigail Perkins, thence running northerly upon said widow Perkins' land till it comes to Samuel Plumer's land, thence running westerly upon said Samuel Plumer's and the heirs of Thomas Plumer's land (late of said Rowley deceased), till it comes to the flume on the main brook that comes from Pentuckett Pond (so-called), and to a brook called Penn Brook; thence running southerly up said brook as the brook runs to the aforesaid Andover road; thence running easterly by said road to the first mentioned bound;" and that on the southerly side of the road leading to Andover was bounded commencing "near the northwest corner of the barn on said premises; then running easterly on the southerly side of said road till it comes to Thomas Burpee's land; thence running southerly by said Burpee's land till it comes to a meadow belonging to John Pillsbury; thence running southerly upon said Pillsbury to Benjamin Wallingford's land; thence running westerly and northwesterly by said Wallingford's to the aforesaid widow Perkins' land; thence northerly by said widows land as ye fence now stands to a stake and stones against an orchard; thence westerly in said orchard to a stake and stones; thence running northerly and easterly as the fence now stands till it comes to Andover road aforesaid; thence running easterly to the bound first mentioned, and also the privilege of the well and yard round the above-said widow Perkins' house, which privilege is now in partnership;" and on the twentieth day of August, 1778, he (and wife Abigail giving up her right of dower), sold this farm to Thomas Burpee, Jr., for five hundred pounds lawful money, and then estimated it to contain about thirty acres. Where he resided during the five or more years next after he sold out to Burpee we are not informed, perhaps he hired a house for his family and was in the army or worked at his trade; but on the thirteenth day of January, 1783, he bargained for a farm owned by Jonathan Tyler, then of Rowley, and John Tyler of Boxford, which they acknowledged Jan. 21, 1794, and paid for it the sum of four hundred and fifteen pounds, consisting of two pieces, and laid on the line of Boxford. One piece, contained about sixty acres with a house and barn thereon, bounded "beginning at the northwest corner at a stake and stones at the line between Rowley and Boxford; thence running southerly on said line to another stake and stones by land belonging to the heirs of Dea. Carlton, late of Bradford deceased; thence running southwesterly by said land through a small corner of the town of Boxford to another stake and stones by the country road; thence running southeasterly by said road till it comes to land belonging to Mr. John Smith, to a stake and stones; thence running easterly by said Smith's land to a stake and stones; from thence running northeasterly across the brook on a straight line to the southwest corner of some land belonging to Thomas Stickney of Bradford, to a stake and stones, said line striking an ash tree near the brook; thence running northwesterly by said Stickney's land till it comes to a proprietor's road; thence southwesterly by said road to a stake and stones at ye corner of Stephen Hardy's land; thence northwesterly by said Hardy's land to a stake and stones; thence northwesterly by said Hardy's land to another stake and stones; thence northwesterly by said Hardy's land to land of Benjamin Morse, to a stake and stones; thence westerly by said Morse's land to the bounds first mentioned." Second piece, containing about ten acres, bounded "beginning at the northeasterly corner of said land at the line between Rowley and Boxford, by the aforesaid country road; thence on said line till it strikes the brook called great meadow brook; thence northeasterly by said brook till it comes to the country road before mentioned; thence on said road till it comes to the aforesaid line or bounds first mentioned," and same day he bought the above, he bought of said Thom. Stickney about fifteen acres adjoining it, in that part of Rowley "called the three thousand acres, it being the fifth and sixth lotts on the letter S," and bounded by Stephen Hardy, proprietors' road, and Doctor Amos Spofford; and about the same time he bought of John Smith about three-quarters of an acre next to his other on the road leading from Salem to Haverhill, and near Great Brook, and in the Spring of 1795 he bought a parcel of pasture land of about twenty-five acres, exclusive of the town road two rods wide laid out through it, which was bounded by Benjamin Jaques, Jeremiah Dodge, the road leading from Boxford to Haverhill, etc., and near Spofford's Mill Brook. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary Army and his widow was a pensioner the latter part of her life. He married Oct. 19, 1773, Abigail, daughter of George and Abigail (Tyler) Carleton, b. in Boxford, Mar. 9, 1752–3, who died Jan. 18, 1850, but he died Apr. 20, 1817, and at the request of his widow, son Daniel was appointed administrator, and by the inventory of his estate we learn that his real estate consisted of two-thirds of 138 acres of land, half a house and barn, and out buildings, including a cider mill, and one pew in the Baptist meeting house. Children:

1. Betsey, born August 14, 1774; married Amasa Foster.
2. Daniel, born February 24, 1776; married Mary Foster.
3. David, born February 29, 1780; married Mary Carleton.

All of his children had posterity.

BETSEY⁶, born August 14, 1774; married Amasa, son of Jonathan and Rebecca (Dorman) Foster, born in Boxford, May 8, 1771, their intention of marriage dated October 1, 1792. He was a shoemaker and farmer; resided in Boxford when their first two children were born, then removed to the southeast corner of Weare, N. H., where he died March 16, 1829.

FOSTER.

He was much respected by all during life; was a teacher of music; held many town offices and was a member of the Legislature of New Hampshire, from Weare. She remained his widow until her decease December 25, 1866. Children:

ALFRED^7, born March 20, 1793; settled in Bedford, N. H., where he taught the public school. Clerk of the town from 1814 until his decease May 10, 1827, and in other ways was useful to the town and vicinity; civil engineer; fond of music; taught the art to the rising generation, and in the old church played the bass viol many years, and was the first superintendent of its sabbath school. In the county was at one time one of the Sheriff's deputies, and was chosen Register of Deeds, but did not live to take the office he was so well fitted to fill; his diary kept from boyhood, and his records of the town being samples of neatness. He was postmaster of Bedford many years. In the militia he held offices from the time he was about twenty-five years of age until his death, when he was Major of his Regiment; was buried under military orders, and the company where he was chosen ensign in 1819 erected to his memory in the cemetery a marble monument; thus he was greatly respected and beloved by the community as well as by his family to which he was a great loss. He married August 28, 1817, Hannah Greely, dau. of Adams and Hannah (Underwood) Merrill, born in Falmouth, Me., Jan. 31, 1799, and when young removed with her parents to Bedford, N. H., to reside. 5. Emily, b. about 1802; whose first child was born about 1822, and m. about 1838, when she was about 16 years of age, a mariner about four years her senior, who some say was a native of England; resided in Boston a while, then removed to a place on the south shore of Massachusetts Bay, where his master's family resided; where they in 1879 still reside, her husband being a retired wealthy shipmaster, and some of their children intermarried with those who move in what the world call good society. They have had about seven children: — Helen, b. about 1841; Geo. H., who was a mariner in 1865; Almatia Josephine, Amelia C., Abraham T. S., Joseph N., and E. Gertrude, who was born about 1864, and perhaps their last child.

Two of their sons are married and in the West — perhaps Dexter, Iowa; and one son is a machinist in Boston; unm. in 1878; one daughter has intermarried with the Tower family, and resides in 1879 in the town where her parents are; and two daughters are at home and unmarried.

She married about 1825 to John Pascall, some say a native of Venice, Italy, and resided in Portland until all their children were born, and where six of them died, then removed from Maine across the continent to California, where he and two more children died. Her other children we understand were born in the following order, viz.:

II. Elizabeth, who m. John Leopold, and had three or more children; the first two died young, and Emma Josephine, born Oct. 25, 1848. III. Lucy, who m. Manuel Enos and had about two children, but they both died young. IV. Ellen, who m. Leonard, son of Benj. and Sarah Ross, b. in Portland, where their children were born. She deceased about 1872. SAMUEL^3, SON OF HENRY^2, (page 135), JOHN.^{1}

SAMUEL^3, born in Rowley, April 28, 1706; according to a record in one branch of the family, and probably it is correct, but I do not discover his birth on the records of Newbury or Rowley, where his father resided. By trade he was a housewright, and he owned land given him by his father, and bought according to deeds handed down by his descendants, but not recorded; of Eliphalet Payson four acres in 1735; of John Plumer six acres in 1736; and of David Pearson nine acres in 1737; all we find of his transaction recorded is a sale of half a piece of salt marsh to his cousin Jeremiah Poore in 1741.

Probably he was a quiet sort of a man for we do not discover that he held many public trusts; the only ones on record are two executive town offices, viz., those of constable in 1739–40, and Hog Reeve in 1731; the latter according to custom, from time immemorial conferred upon newly married men; but, if he had lived beyond middle age perhaps he would have been called to fill important places.

He perhaps died of a fever or some other acute disease as he made his will September 14, 1748, and died the 21st of same month — only one week after. In his will he mentions all his children, excepting one that died young; his wife, and his father-in-law John Sarl, whom he appointed executor.

In the inventory of his estate we learn that he had in his homestead about sixty acres, two and one-half acres of fresh meadow near, and six acres of salt marsh in Newbury, half of which real estate he gave to each of his sons Joseph and Eliphalet, and he owned a pew in the upper meeting house in Rowley.

He married November 10, 1730, Elizabeth, the daughter of John Searl, who was born January 20, 1712, and after he deceased she married George Little, and went to New Boston to reside, and died May 28, 1779. Children:

1. Elizabeth, born August 15, 1731; died March 3, 1737.
2. Hepzibah, b. July 16, 1733; m. May 24, 1756, Benjamin Little; lived awhile in the west parish of Haverhill, Mass., at the lower end of Crystal Lake, then settled in Hampstead, N. H., where their children were born, but probably died in Bradford, Vermont. Children:

   I. Joshua, b. Mar. 19, 1758, who died Aug. 3, 1759. II. Levi, b. May 24, 1760, who died Sept. 5, 1766. III. Ezekiel, b. July 28, 1762; a graduate of Harvard College; a school-teacher in Boston many years; author of an arithmetic entitled the "Usher"; m. JOHN^{5}, SON OF JOSEPH^{4} (page 202), SAMUEL^{3}, HENRY^{2}, JOHN.^{1}

JOHN^{5}, born in Rowley, Mass., Nov. 26, 1775; was by trade a cordwainer; married Nov. 30, 1797, Hannah, daughter of Dea. James and Mehitable (Thurston) Chute, who was born in said town Aug. 21, 1780; and as four of his elder brothers left the pine plain where they were born, and settled on a harder but newer and more fertile soil in a more northern part of New England, he tried his fortune in Salisbury, New Hampshire, about thirty miles in a northerly direction from where his brothers Samuel and George settled, but stayed there only from Mar., 1798 until Aug., 1799; then returned to Mass. and resided in Reading (where his wife's uncle Daniel Chute then lived) then, in Jan., 1801, bought of Rev. Elijah Parish, in Byfield, a place a few rods easterly of the church in that parish with the house in Newbury on the northerly side of the street, and six acres of the land on the opposite side of the way. They occupied the house until 1816 (the year when there were several frosts every month, so that but a little corn in New England ripened), then they resolved to go west — having disposed of part of their place to Benj. Colman in 1805, and the house in 1813 to her father, who in Sept., 1816 sold it to Joseph Hale, Jr., who had married Mrs. Poore's sister Eunice — which house Eunice in Jan., 1829 sold to Doctor Martin Root who occupies it in 1880.

They with seven children started on their long journey in the autumn of 1816, and when they were tarrying in Pittsburgh, Alleghany Co., in the western part of Pa., he wrote to his brother on the homestead, of which letter we give some extracts and a fac-simile of his signature, dated at Pittsburgh, Feb. 12, 1817, the postage of which was 25 cents, addressed to "Mr. Joseph Poor, Byfield, Mass., Newburyport post office." He says "Possibly you may think it strange that I have not written you before this — but the sequel of my letter will furnish you with an explanation . . . on the whole we had a prosperous journey and have enjoyed our usual health since we have Been hence — on our arrival however we found the City full of Yankee Horses and Chariots selling at auction through the streets . . as my waggon would live without Eating I thought I had better let it stand by Awhile than to give it to the Crier for selling. But to my astonishment the emigrants Continued to flock in from the northward in troops till about the first of January and kepte the City glutted with Horses and Cariages so you see I have Been completely frustrated in my expectation of Raising Money from my team . . . this is the fifth week since the rivers have been passable on the ice a thing scarcely known in the annals of this Country . . . . Many of my friends and acquaintances thought me giddy by mounting on the airey Castles of my own building — or intoxicated with visionary scenes of Grandeur — but their Conceptions of the Country — of me — and of my designs and Expectations were alike puerile for — surely no undertaking of my life was ever more premeditated or more evidently A point of duty otherwise I should never have Done violence to the finest feelings of human nature in breaking away from my old connections—but we thought it best nor have we seen cause to repent of it — but on the contrary much cause of gratitude to the great disposer of all events who has preserved us thus far.

I often think of our Mother in her forlorn situation and of the care which devolves upon you in consequence of it — and in particular upon my beloved sister — but I am satisfied that all is done for her which can be done — and have only to hope and pray that you both may be rewarded for your care, in those durable Riches that will never fade . . . Tell father Chute I shall write him in a few days . . . With High consideration I Remain as ever

Your affectionate

Brother John Poor

While in Pittsburgh their son John was born, and when that child was about two months old they went down the Ohio on a flat boat, following the crooked course on the southern border of the state of Ohio, by Cincinnati, where Mrs. Poore's brothers Daniel and James Chute had resided about ten years, and when they got as far as Madison in Jefferson Co., which is on the southeastern border of Indiana, they landed and remained awhile and he bought some land in the wilds about forty miles westward of Madison, built a rough log cabin to live in and removed on to the place Oct. 2, 1819; but he died Dec. 9, 1819 after being sick only about four hours, leaving his widow to care for their large family of children in the dense wood, three miles from nearest neighbors, and in a country a vast distance from her kindred and old acquaintances.

Nevertheless she chose to remain there, although her friends at the east offered to give her money to pay the expenses if she would come back to Massachusetts. So, Col. Jere. Collman, of Newburyport, the enterprising man of the Eastern Stage Company, who was the husband of her sister Mary, helped her to one hundred dollars to pay for the land, and she with one son of about sixteen years of age and her elder daughters (the eldest son having been left east to finish learning his trade) co-operating, attacked the forest and raised corn for bread, and her uncommon wisdom and energy with an exceedingly quiet and amiable disposition accompanied also with piety, enabled her to succeed in rearing a family which she could look upon with pleasure, and her children and the grandchildren who enjoyed her company rise up and call her blessed.

Ever after the decease of Mr. Poore — more than half a century, she remained his widow and after her son Alvan married, she resided with her daughter Susannah to the end of her life — about forty years, and was a great help in bringing up her very large family of children — retaining her physical and mental faculties in an uncommon degree until her decease, Jan. 30, 1872, after becoming a nonogenarian. Children:

1. Amanda, born Oct. 12, 1798; died Feb. 5, 1799.
2. Wendell, born Dec. 27, 1799, who married Elizabeth Weddell and Thirza Guthree.
3. Amanda, born Oct. 15, 1801; married Moses B. Pearson.
4. Alvan, born July 31, 1803; married Julia A Zaring.
5. Hannah A., born Nov. 17, 1804; married Jonathan Prosser.
6. Betsey Chute, born Jan. 6, 1807; married in 1826, Walter Wright, and died at Green Castle, Ind., in just two years after marriage, leaving a dau. Hulda E., who survived her mother six weeks, and died in Sept., 1828.
7. Mehitable T., born Nov. 25, 1809; married William Merrill.
8. Susannah, born Dec. 15, 1811; married Thomas J. Brooks.
9. Harriet, born Aug. 27, 1815; married William H. Houghton.
10. John, born Feb. 1, 1818, who was a farmer in Siskiyou, Cal., and unmarried when heard from in 1863 — at which time he was on the eve of starting for a distant part of Oregon prospecting for gold.
11. Amelia P., born Aug. 21, 1820; married John De Witt.

Of these children who have posterity: —

WENDELL^6, SON OF JOHN^5 (page 254), JOSEPH^4, SAMUEL^3, HENRY^2, JOHN.^{1}

WENDELL^6, born in Reading, Mass., Dec. 27, 1799; went west Sept., 1818; is a retired octogenarian, but for a long period served the community in filling many public offices of important trust. Among them he was collector of public revenue in 1839, Coroner from 1840 to 1842; the next two years High Sheriff — all in Jackson Co., Indiana. In 1854 he removed to Ringgold Co., Iowa, where he was Postmaster of Redding and was elected a School Fund Commissioner in 1855, and served in that office about three years. In 1862 was appointed to fill the place of Judge Keller when he went into the army; and at the next annual election was chosen for a full term, the office being for county business and for Probating estates of deceased persons; and while acting as Judge, the Legislature passed a law making the county Judge eligible to the office of county Recorder, and he was elected to that office and acted some three years; then he retired from public life—though his fellow citizens continued to urge him to take offices—and has since resided on his farm near Mormontown, which place of residence is in the westerly part of Ringgold County, Iowa, and within about one mile of the boundary line between Ringgold and Taylor Counties.

He reared an unusual large family of children, and one trait in them which we may mention is that they are all singers and some are good performers on musical instruments; they were by two daughters of Daniel and Mary (Walling) Weddel, of East Tennessee. He married (1) Feb. 21, 1822, Elizabeth, born in Hawkins Co., Tenn., Apr. 25, 1801, by whom had ten children. She died June 13, 1840; married (2) Nov. 10, 1840, Thirza, wid. of Samuel Guthrie (who had by Mr. Guthrie four daughters, Ruth, born 1830, Sarah E., b. 1831, Leannah, b. 1834, and Mary A., b. 1836, who were all m. but are deceased), born Jan. 22, 1811. These wives' parents were natives of America, their father b. in said East Tennessee and mother in Virginia, and they had besides Elizabeth and Thirza, sons Alfred, Hiram C., John D., and daughters Millicent, Louisiana, Mary A., Hester A., Amanda and Alzira, and after their children were born they removed to Jackson Co., Ind., where they deceased. Mr. Poore had by his last wife (and she is the only child of her parents alive in 1880) six children more.

At the time his children were born he resided on White River in the westerly part of Jackson Co., Ind., and about ten miles west of Brownstown, the county seat of Jackson Co. After coming to Ringgold Co. he owned 410 acres of land which he bought of government, and resided some eight miles west of Mount Ayr, the seat of that county; but it was more land than he could easily manage after his boys left, so he gave portions of it to some of them and sold the rest and bought about 1865, the place near Mormontown, where he resides in 1880. Children:

SAMUEL MILLER[7], b. Nov. 17, 1822; m. Dec, 22, 1841, Julia Ann, dau. of Adam and Mary M. (Klepper) Winningar, from East Tennessee; b. in Hawkins Co., Tenn., Oct. 27, 1824. ALVAN^6, SON OF JOHN^5 (Page 254), JOSEPH^4, SAMUEL^3, HENRY^2, JOHN.^{1}

ALVAN^6, born July 31, 1803; was in early life a shoemaker, afterward, for about ten years, a cooper, and in the latter part of life a farmer; but we are informed that his active mind did not permit him to use all his energies on these vocations. Being a constant reader, a deep thinker, as well as a man of ability and uprightness of character and sterling worth, and earnestly devoted to christianity, he was resorted to for his opinion in important matters. And possessed of superior oratorial powers was called upon frequently to deliver Fourth of July orations, and we are informed by one of his sons that during the five years he lived in Iowa he was engaged in preaching the gospel. His life was one of an exemplary christian, and his death was that of the righteous.

He married Sept. 26, 1833, Julia Ann, the widow of Eli Zaring (who by Mr. Zaring had a son Eli, who died of yellow fever in Donaldsonville, La., about 1850, in his 22nd year, unm.). She was daughter of John and Lydia, (Holmes) DeWitt, born in New York City, Nov. 27, 1812. After their marriage they resided in Indiana over two-score years; the first seven of their children were born in Washington County, and the eighth in Pike County, and in the autumn of 1856 they removed to Iowa and settled in a locality in the southwest part of Ringgold Co., on the west fork of Grand River, now called Redding, which is about fifteen miles from Mt. Ayr. He died Jan. 29, 1862, and she survived him until July 25, 1875. Children:

MEHITABEL THURSTON^6, b. Nov. 25, 1809; m. at the house of her uncle Daniel Chute, Mar. 3, 1831, to William Stanley, son of Jacob and Annie (Stanley) Merrell, b. in Durham, Green Co., N. Y., Jan. 9, 1798. Several in his line of ancestors have borne the name of Jacob, and his grandfather had that name. The maiden name of his grandmother was Manly. She belonged to East Hartford. His mother was of a family of Stanleys of Tolland, Conn. Jacob and Annie resided awhile in West Hartford, where he and his father were born, but they removed to Durham, N. Y., before this son was born; lived there six years, then removed to Oneida Co., and lived about seven miles from Utica, N. Y. Their sons were

Jacob Manly, who lived and died on a farm about seven miles from the homestead and about nine miles from Rome, N. Y. William Stanley, who has been permanently settled in Cincinnati since 1828, and been with his brother in the wholesale drug business, being importers and manufacturers, and in 1880 their place of business is at No. 5 West Fifth street and he resides at No. 508 John St., where he has resided since 1873; Hiram, who occupies the homestead of his father; Ashbel Stanley, who has been in Co. with William Stanley most of his life. Their daughters were Anne, Mary, Lodema, and Diantha. Doctor Merrell is a graduate of Hamilton College, N. Y. He afterward received the degree of M. D. but never devoted himself to the practice of medicine. He has been President of the Eclectic Medical College of Cincinnati for twenty-five years and is well known to the medical fraternity, as the first to discover and bring to the notice of the profession the active principle of many of the botanical remedies now in use, among which are the now celebrated Podophyllin, Leptandrin, etc. Has also an extensive reputation as a botanist, especially in the branch of medicinal plants. Was a member of the City Council of Cincinnati for several years. Six members of their family are graduates of Hughes High School of Cincinnati. Children:

ELIPHALET[4], SON OF SAMUEL[3] (PAGE 199), HENRY[2], JOHN.[1]

ELIPHALET[4], born in Rowley, Mass., Mar. 18, 1746–7; a spirit of enterprize seized him in his teens, consequently we find him residing in the granite state spring of 1767—as we learn from an instrument found among other papers handed down in the line of the family who have always occupied the homestead of his father and grandfather situated in that part of Rowley now called Georgetown, a copy of which we here insert viz.: "Know All men By these Presents that I Eliphalet Poor of Hampstead In the Prouince of the New Hamshire Cordwainer haue quit All the Husbandry tols and the pew in West parish Meeting House in Rowley Which was my Honoured farthe Poors Late of Rowley Decesd Now posesed By my Brother Joseph Poor of Rowley in the County of Essex and prouince of the Masechusets Bay in new England yeoman I Do By these presents for Ever quit Claim the aboue mentioned premises In Witness where of I haue set my hand this sixth day of April in the year 1767."

Eliphalet Poor

He about that time also sold the real estate which was given to him by his father; and about three years after he bought real estate in Hampstead. On the records of said Hampstead, N. H., we find recorded the births of his first eight children; but it seems that when Ruth the eighth child was about two years of age he sold to Jacob Brown, of Newbury all his land in Hampstead, and removed to Hopkinton, the town on high lands west of Concord the capital of New Hampshire; resided there awhile—perhaps when his other children were born, and while there conducted the grist mill at Contoocook Village; next removed from Hopkinton to Dunbarton, where we suppose his wife died. While in Dunbarton he lived at the place subsequently occupied by his grandnephew Thomas L. Poore (page 228). After the decease of his wife he returned to Hopkinton, and there resided the remainder of his days with his daughter Sally, who had married Mr. Emerson; he died Oct. 19, 1827, after attaining the age of an Octogenarian.

We learn from aged people now remaining in Hopkinton, who remember him, that he was a tall, gentlemanly appearing man. Among the offices of importance held by him while residing in Hampstead, was that of a selectman. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary Army and he is styled Captain by those in Dunbarton who have recollections of him.

He married May 8, 1769, Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Follansbee) Little, born in said Hampstead, May 19, 1752. Her parents were of the old Newbury families and her paternal ancestors were of the family of Littles to which several belonged who have intermarried with our family. Children:

1. Lydia, b. Feb. 16, 1770; m. Moses, son of Dea. Abel Kimball, of Hopkinton, but d. about 1804 without issue. Her widower afterward m. Jane Moore, by whom had sons

Horace M. and George W., who both died young, and a daughter whom they named Lydia Poore b. in 1808, who is the wife of Isaac Story, and they resided in 1878 on the homestead of her father which is about one mile below the village, but she has no issue.

2. Samuel, b. June 18, 1772, who we understand was a seaman, and died with consumption unmarried.

3. Moses, b. Aug. 26, 1774; m. Charlotte White.

4. Sarah, b. Jan. 5, 1777; m. Bodwell Emerson, of Hopkinton, whose early ancestors resided in Haverhill, Mass. She had only one child, viz.: Daniel, who we hear m. a Plumer, and had two or more daughters. His wife died and he removed to Biddeford, Maine, where he probably died about 1855. Probably the daughters of Daniel never married, and only one if any is alive in 1880, and that one's name we understand is Mary and born about 1850.

5. Mary, b. Feb. 10, 1779, who m. Hon. John Harris, one of the Judges of the Court in New Hampshire. They resided in Hopkinton, where she died Feb. 6, 1843, aged 64, and he died Apr. 23, 1845, aged 74. She had the following children:

   I. George who was a cripple; d. unm. Feb. 17, 1849, aged 47 years. II. Catherine, who d. Feb. 16, 1843, aged 39 years; m. a distant kin — Timothy Wiggin, son of Maj. William and Eliza (Wiggin) Little, b. Feb. 9, 1805, and d. Apr. 12, 1863. We understand that Maj. Little removed from Atkinson, N. ASSOCIATION OF POORES.

An invitation was sent to those bearing the surname of Poor and Poore, who reside in the county of Essex and vicinity, in Massachusetts, to meet in Boston, at Young's Hotel, on the 6th of November, A. D. 1880, and consider the feasibility of forming an Association of our family for the purpose of making a full history and genealogy of the same, and continuing the records of each branch from generation to generation, and also to appoint the time and place for a social gathering of representatives of their kindred from all parts of the country.

At 11 o'clock, the appointed hour, the following of the family met at the said place, viz.: — Ben: Perley Poore, West Newbury, Mass.; Henry Varnum Poor, Brookline, Mass.; Chas. F. Poor, 39 Clarendon street, Boston; Geo. H. Poor, Andover, Mass., Law Office, 186 Washington street, Boston; Perry Poor, Charlestown, Mass.; James Ridgway Poor, 34 Chester Park, Boston; John M. Poor, Haverhill, Mass.; Edwin Poor, Bradford, Mass.; Alfred Poore, Goffstown, N. H.; Luke Poor, Haverhill, Mass.; John O. Poor, Boston; Albert Poor, North Andover, Mass.; Joseph Poor, Peabody, Mass.; William Poor, Andover, Mass.; Nathaniel C. Poor, 34 Chester Park, Boston; Chas. D. Poore, Malden, Mass.; George W. Poore, Malden, Mass.; G. W. Poor, Lawrence, Mass.; Franklin N. Poor, Somerville, Mass.; Joseph H. Poor, Boston; Leroy Poor, Boston; Alfred Poore, Salem, Mass.

The object of the meeting having been presented, an organization was effected by choosing Maj. Ben: Perley Poore to act as Chairman and Alfred Poore of Salem as Secretary.

After considering the objects of the meeting, a committee of six was raised, appointed by the chair, to devise ways and means to have a genealogy of the families in America of their surname, written and printed, and to make preparations for a social gathering in the latter part of 1881. This committee consists of Henry V. Poor and George H. Poor of the descendants of Daniel Poore, one of the earliest settlers of Andover; John M. Poor, of Haverhill, and Franklin N. Poor, descendants of John Poore of Newbury, the earliest of the name in America; and Nathaniel C. Poor of Boston and John M. Poor, of West Newbury, descendants of Samuel Poore, some of whose posterity have resided at Indian Hill many generations; and a second committee composed of Alfred Poore, of Salem, John O. Poor, of Boston, and the above said George H. Poor, of Andover, was appointed to prepare Constitution and By-laws, and nominate officers for a permanent Association to be acted upon at the social gathering.

The first-named committee, Henry V. Poor, Chairman, held several meetings and concluded to send a circular to all of the family who can be found in the country, soliciting subscriptions for the work and other aids needed in order to further the object of publishing the genealogy of the family and to have the social gathering at Newburyport, on the ~~first~~ 2nd Wednesday of September, 1881.

RECORDS ADDITIONAL.

[Similar to those pp. 291-297. And it may be a proper place to insert the pedigree of persons who have or may become connected with this stock of Poores by marriage. See suggestions in note, page 290].
